First Disputes, Then
Accepts Treaty.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—President Harding created a sensation today by repudiating the understanding of the American, British, and Japanese delegations to the armistice conference that the four power treaty applies to the islands surrounding Japan proper, commonly called the Japanese mainland.

After six hours of excitement in and about the conference and the senate, the Harding administration today, apparently without intending it as an official utterance.

Delegates Are Surprised.

Conference delegates, however, for as well as American, showed great interest at once. The American group held a consultation and then Senators Lodge and Underwood hurried to the White House.

In this period between his two utterances the President evidently learned that the American delegation was instrumental in framing a treaty which would apply to the Japanese main islands and that the American purpose was to insure the application of the treaty to the Hawaiian Islands, which are a territory, not a possession, of the United States, and which we desire to fortify as a record of our frontier.

Joint Conciliatory Statement.

The White House statement, correcting the impression created by the President's earlier utterances, follows: "When the President was responding to press inquiries at the afternoon interview today he expressed the opinion that the homeland of Japan did not come within the words 'insular possessions and insular dominions' under the four power agreement, except as territory proper of any other nation which is a party to the agreement."

This expression has been emphasized as a division between the President and the delegates to the conference in maintaining the four party agreement.

"The President announced tonight that the difference in view in nowise will be permitted to embarrass the conference or the ratification of the agreement. He had assumed all along that the spirit of the conference contemplated a conference which pledges respect of territory in every way which will promote lasting peace."

"He has learned from the United States delegates to the conference that they have agreed to the construction which includes the homeland of Japan in the term 'insular possessions and insular dominions,' and has no objection to that construction."

Text of the Treaty.

The four power treaty provides that the high contracting parties agree as between themselves to respect their rights in relation to their insular possessions and insular dominions in the region of the Pacific ocean," that they will submit any controversy arising from a Pacific question to a joint commission of the four powers, and that they will reach an understanding on measures to be taken jointly or separately to deal with aggression on such rights.

Secretary Hughes and other members of the American delegation have maintained the treaty ever since it was signed as including Japan proper, Australia, and New Zealand, but not including continental United States. Senators and other opponents in the Japanese mainland, while Japan is not obligated to respect the territorial integrity of the American Spilled Mutual Guarantees.

The aim of Mr. Hughes and his colleagues in negotiating a treaty to station peace in the Pacific and terminate the Anglo-Japanese alliance was to obtain mutual guarantees applying only to the Philippines, which they were willing to forego fortifying, but to station the Japanese islands, the fortifications of which we desire to strengthen.

The agreement to maintain the status quo in the Philippines applies to Japan, the Philippines, Hongkong, the Bonin, and other outlying Japanese islands, but not to the "FUTURE WARS SURE," PERSHING SAYS, "AND MY SON WILL FIGHT"

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 20.—[United Press.]—Gen. John J. Pershing wants his son, Warren, to be a soldier, and he believes there will be future wars.

He told Mrs. Daisy Van Scoy, head of Omaha Gold Star Mothers, who was at the depot Tuesday when the head of the A. E. F. passed through en route to Lincoln for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Van Scoy put her arms around Warren and remarked that the general must feel relieved that his son would never have to fight.

"Madam, I want my son to be a soldier and fight if his country ever needs him," Gen. Pershing gravely replied.

"But wars are going to be done away with," Mrs. Van Scoy objected.

"Now, don't go away with that notion in your head," the general replied. "Of course, we want friendly relations with all countries, but to talk of doing away with wars altogether is foolish."

EMMA GOLDMAN ALL DRESSED UP; NO PLACE TO GO

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

RIGA, Dec. 20.—All dressed up and no place to go is the present situation of Emma Goldman, Alexander Berkman, and Alex Shapiro, a former secretary of Prince Kropotkin, whose fruitless efforts to obtain visas from any European consulate here may compel their return to Russia. The trio's permission to remain in Latvia expires tomorrow, and the Latvians are refusing to extend their visas a second time.

Emma and Alex today continued their hunt for visas among the various consulates in Riga, explaining to the consuls that they are on route to America.

However, they are finding that the state department's decision against them is well known.

THE TRIBUNE correspondent saw Emma today for the first time since the Chicago Clothing workers' strike of 1916. She is still fat and Alex is still thin. They are wearing fur coats and appear to be anything but anarchists. Emma blames reporters for making her presence here known and refuses to be interviewed.

HUSBAND SHOTS AT HIS WIFE AND HITS DAUGHTER

Stephen Andrusyn, 43 years old, 1470 Milwaukee avenue, a laborer, last night shot at his wife and wounded his 17 year old daughter. The wife promptly sent in a riot call. Reserve responded and took the girl to a hospital.

Andrusyn had been held before the Court of Domestic Relations, where he ordered to pay his wife $6 a week toward the support of their two children. Andrusyn resented it.

Her Tilt with Brophy.

Representative Johnson, chairman of the committee, questioned Miss Forbes closely concerning her encounter with Inspector Brophy, who threatened to detain her overnight, "or as long as he liked," at the island after she had been officially cleared, and Representative Siegel noted carefully the names and addresses of five immigrants who met with especially harsh and unjust treatment, and the relatives of some of whom desire to be heard by the committee.

Interest was also manifested in the statement made to Miss Forbes by several of her girl companions that the two women who boarded the ship with the inspectors at quarantine to conduct the first medical examination of the women passengers had accepted sums of money ranging from 25 cents to $1.50 from immigrant girls who had only from $1 to $5 in the world, but who had been told by the stewardess that such tips would help them through their examination.

"These two women were not dressed as nurses and I do not think they were nurses," Miss Forbes said. "But I do not know what their official position was. We were not in a position to make inquiries."

$60,000 LOOT OF BANDITS IN RAID ON JEWELRY SHOP

Four armed auto bandits held up the jewelry store of Simons & Simpson at 603 West 22d street, Cicero, early last night and robbed the proprietors of $60,000 in gems, gold, and jewelry, they reported to the police.

The owners reported the men took time to hastily appraise the stock, taking only the most valuable articles.

Aldermen Chortle at Bill to Stop Women Smoking

New York, Dec. 20.—[Special.]—A proposed ordinance to prohibit women from smoking in hotels, restaurants, and other public places was introduced today by Ald. McGuinness at the meeting of the board of aldermen. McGuinness had been the Green Point section of staid Brooklyn.

When it was read a number of aldermen guffawed. One suggested that it be referred to the committee on sewers. Another made a motion that the ordinance be referred to the committee on public markets. Ald. Ferland, who presided, stopped the hilarity by referring it to the committee on general welfare.

3 WOMEN SAY BURCH TOOK NO GUN CASE WEST

Defense Expects to Score Today.

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—New evidence that may free Arthur Burch of the charge of murdering J. Belton Kennedy will be introduced at his trial tomorrow morning. Three white women will testify that the Pullman porter, who says he saw a shotgun case in Burch's luggage on the train en route from Chicago to Los Angeles, was mistaken and will declare that Burch had no shotgun case with him.

This unexpected aid to the man fighting for life and liberty and desperately attempting to show that some of the evidence against him had been manufactured by unscrupulous or prejudiced witnesses was furnished through the work of reporters in the employ of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the Los Angeles Times.

Sought "Man in Lower Six."

The reporters, looking for "the man in lower 6" alluded to by the porter, who testified for the state, learned there was no man in this berth, and found and questioned the women who occupied lower 3 and 4 and upper 4 on the Pullman car Ocheta of the Santa Fe road, in which Burch had upper 6.

The women are Mrs. Tessie Sapir, wife of Mayor Sapir, 7024 Hollywood boulevard, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Sophie Root and her daughter, Miss Alice Root, 725 Fairmount place, Bronx, New York. Mrs. Root and her daughter are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sapir.

The three women left New York June 20 and arrived in Chicago next day. They boarded the Santa Fe train to Los Angeles, arriving here June 24. Burch was quite attentive to Miss Root on the trip, it appears. He gave her candy and magazines.

"Mr. Burch had no shotgun case," said Miss Root. "I saw none on the train. I know he had none when he got off the car. He alighted just ahead of mamma and me, carrying his own baggage. No, the porter did not help him with his suitcases. I'm sure of that."

Confirms Daughter's Story.

Mrs. Root confirmed her daughter's story. She said she was attracted to Burch "because he was so nice to my daughter, giving her magazines and things."

Miss Root says she asked Burch why he didn't take the unoccupied lower 6 and he replied it was because the air was better in the upper.

"I remember now," Burch said to-night, "that the lower berth was empty. I really had thought it was occupied. That conversation, however, brings it all back to me."

The testimony of the porter, R. J. Sanders, is the only bit of evidence so far introduced to show that Burch had anything to do with a weapon of any kind. The defense now is eagerly trying to locate Sanders. If they find him he will be subpoenaed.

During Burch's trial today the effort of the defense was to bring out through witnesses that the defendant was being made the victim of a conspiracy, at least so far as concerns the alleged removal from his knee of a thorn similar to those abounding in Beverly Glen at the scene of the murder.

Burch's Thorn a "Frameup?"

A direct charge that this was a "frameup" was made from the witness stand by Paul Roman, a former Chicago boy who is in jail here charged with a felony. He was called by the defense to contradict the testimony of Dr. J. J. Finley, also a fellow prisoner at that time.

Dr. Finley said he had extracted a thorn from Burch's left knee a few days after Burch had been placed in jail.

Roman swore that he had known Dr. Finley for some time, had first met him in the Congress cafe, Chicago, and that he had asked him to tell the truth about the thorn incident. He declared Dr. Finley said he sent a friend to Beverly Glen for some thorns, and that when he had occasion to open a safe on Burch's knee he palmed one of these thorns, and made even Burch believe it had been in the knee.

Later, the witness said, Dr. Finley told him he thought he would "get off without a scratch" for sticking Burch. Two days later, he said, Dr. Finley got out of prison.

On indirect examination Chief Defense Counsel Schenck brought out that Roman had made a written statement of his testimony long before Holmes talked to him.

Leaps B. & O. Car, Collects, Then Escapes

Defying armed marines at the Englewood station and others on the train, all with orders to "shoot to kill," a lone bandit swung over the rear railing of the observation car of Baltimore and Ohio train No. 6 as it left the Englewood platform last night, held up a dozen passengers for $1,000, then pulled the emergency brake cord and dropped off into darkness.

As the bandit went methodically about his work the train was crawling between the big apartment houses and hotels of one of the most densely populated parts of Chicago. On almost every street over which it passed were policemen. There were two on the station platform, and also several armed express and mail handlers. Members of the train crew were armed.

Imperturbable Bandit.

But the bandit worked as if the train had been halted in the midst of a desert, as if not a weapon existed in the world except the black automatic pistol he carried, and as he accepted the money and valuables handed to him by astounded passengers he gave them in return a polite word of thanks.

The train, bound for Washington, left the Grand Central station at 6:25 o'clock. Passengers completely certain of an uneventful trip, had settled their baggage under their benches and a number of them had gone to the observation car to read in its luxurious chairs or watch the passing lights of the city.

A Polite, Suave Turpin.

The rear end of the observation car had hardly passed the end of the Englewood station platform when the bandit, a silk handkerchief over his face and the automatic pistol ready in his hand, opened the door and entered the car. His clothing was expensive, his manner almost gracious.

"Hands up, everybody," he said. "I want no trouble and will make none if you will all please be quiet."

M. D. Taylor, city passenger agent for the Baltimore and Ohio, was one of the first in line. The bandit took $14 and a watch.

Kind to the Women.

Three other men contributed of their wealth. Next in line were Herbert L. Stansbury, wife and three daughters, of Tucuman, N. M.

"Madam," said the bandit, "will you please take the children and retire to the other end of the car. I am not interested in any valuables a woman may have and I do not want to frighten children. If you please."

As Mrs. Stansbury and the children obeyed his request he relieved Mr. Stansbury of his pocketbook.

"Not much, but you look as if you can well afford to lose it, else I wouldn't take it," he told F. W. Williamson, a Baltimore and Ohio ticket agent.

And So He Departs.

As he continued down the line of passengers, taking a wallet here, a watch, or roll of bills, the conductor of the train appeared in the front of the car, ready to take tickets. The bandit regarded him coolly.

"It's quite possible," he told his victims, "that the conductor is armed. If he isn't he can call men who are. That would mean shooting and some of you might get hurt. I don't want that to happen, so I'll leave you."

ILLINOIS BANDITS AT BAY.

Flora, Ill., Dec. 20.—Five armed men, who this afternoon robbed the State Bank of Iuka of $15,000 in cash and bonds, were tonight chased into a wooded strip seven miles north of here by sheriff's posse led by Miss Mildred Kelley, a bank employee.

The bandits' automobile crashed through a bridge, forcing them to abandon their car. The robbers are surrounded in the wooded clump by sheriff's deputies, who are awaiting the arrival of bloodhounds from St. Elmo before entering the woods.

Miss Kelley, who formed a posse, loaded them into her automobile, and started after the bandits and their loot, was in the bank at the time of the robbery, together with the cashier and his wife, also a bank employee.

The door opened inward and the snow that had drifted against it rushed in ahead of them.

DEAD ARRAYED AGAINST LIVING ON IRISH TREATY

Kin of Slain Men Fight Approval.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

DUBLIN, Dec. 20.—The struggle in the Dail Eireann over ratification or rejection of the Anglo-Irish peace treaty definitely assumed the character of a battle between the living and the dead, today. The dead were represented by old men and widows and the living by young men who have fought in the battle for Ireland's independence and survived. The living are all in favor of ratification and the proxies for the dead are against it.

So far I have seen nothing to induce me to change my opinion that the living will win. Occasionally the proxies for the dead are louder in their applause, but that is to be expected from men and women to whom their policies are their religion.

Mrs. O'Callaghan Fights Treaty.

The most dramatic feature of this morning's session was the speech made by Mrs. Mary O'Callaghan, the widow of the murdered lord mayor of Limerick. It was a masterpiece of closely reasoned oratory and even if it had not been, Mrs. O'Callaghan's appearance would have made it effective. She is a woman of great beauty and education, she dresses in the most fashionable Paris mourning and she is devoted not only to the memory of her husband but to the cause that both stood for. Add to that a real gift for oratory and you have a combination bound to affect any assembly.

"Does any one question my right to criticize and condemn the treaty? I want it understood here and now that I have the clearest right in the world. I paid a big price for the treaty and my right to stand here."

Calls It "Treaty of Terror."

"Why was my husband murdered? Why am I a widow? Was it that I should stand here and vote to enter the British empire and take an oath to become its faithful citizen? Shall I see the thing he worked for and for which I lost my happiness voted away by young soldiers in whom he had no such hope?"

Before Mrs. O'Callaghan's, another speech for the dead was made by Sean T. Etchingham of Wexford, the minister of the fisheries in the Irish government. Mr. Etchingham, who is an old man, referred to "this treaty of terror" and urged rejection even at the cost of renewed war. He caused laughter by declaring that Lord Lansdowne, who is to marry Princess Mary, would be the first governor general and would be created the Duke of Dublin.

"Bones of Dead Rattled."

The most powerful speech for the treaty was made by Flann Lynch of South Kerry, one of the secretaries of the plenipotentiaries, who declared the bones of the dead were Discuss Economic Conference.

Mr. Brandt's talks with Mr. Lloyd George will end on Thursday, but as yet they have only touched lightly on Mr. Lloyd George's plan for calling a world economic conference early in the year. The ideas of Germany, Italy, and Belgium, and probably Germany and Russia, are to be represented.

Mr. Lloyd George believes that the success of the conference demands the presence of Germany and Russia, but he is not sure of the ideas of Great Britain. He is, however, strongly in participation and strongly objects to Russia. Both French and British officials stress the desirability of the presence of Americans.

HOW MOONSHINE IS PUT ACROSS

In the above picture Edward Palma (to the left), a government witness, and Col. John V. Cline, assistant United States district attorney (in the center), are shown inspecting several thousand bogus whiskey labels by the use of which moonshine is sold at high prices as aged liquor. With the labels were also seized forged U. S. revenue stamps which had a face value of $2,000,000. The third figure in the picture is Emil Carlone (to the right), who was arrested by the government agents.

"If I get out of this—I'll be happy," he declared.

Two of the bonds are in a Gary bank; the other four are in possession of the federal authorities.

Hearing on the cases of the Jaggers and Bromish will be held in Indianapolis Jan. 26. Reeves is expected to surrender to the federal authorities shortly. Mrs. Flamm, who lives at 6321 South Bishop street, and Lidke are held as government witnesses.

"The mystery is solved," said Capt. Thomas L. Porter, who with Secret Service Agents Gabriel De Fiore and William Harper worked on the case. "The only point we've yet to clear is where the bonds came from—we think Reeves will tell us that."

IRELAND, PEORIA "DRY" SOLON, IS ROBBED OF RUM

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 20.—Acting on an anonymous tip received at police headquarters, detectives late last night surrounded the residence of Congressman Clifford Ireland, prevented the carrying away of forty-eight gallons of domestic wines and five cases of French imported wines, and captured the would-be thieves.

The officers, in hiding, had only a short time to wait when the two men, giving the names of Joseph Zipp and Richard Voris, were seen to drive up in an automobile and enter the home.

Key by leg and case by case the thieves brought their loot up and out of the cellar and deposited it in the rear of the house. When the last case was put in place, ready to be carried out to the waiting machine, the police closed in on them.

Congressman Ireland is in Washington and the members of his family were visiting in Washburn, Ill. He voted for the eighteenth amendment.

SEIZE MILLIONS IN FAKE REVENUE STAMPS; HOLD 2

Find Moonshine Labels Source.

With the arrest of Emil Carlone and his wife, Pasqualina, by secret service operatives, in a raid on a store at 1149 South State street, yesterday afternoon, federal officials announced they have located the source, in Chicago, of the millions of dollars' worth of counterfeit government revenue stamps that have been used in flooding the city with moonshine whiskey, labeled and sold to the public as genuine bonded liquor.

Bogus revenue stamps, that according to John C. Cannon, collector of internal revenue, would be worth more than $2,000,000 if genuine, and several thousand labels were seized in the raid. The labels were printed to represent those on 8 year old "Waterfall and Frazier" and "Pebbleford" whiskeys.

Ends Search of Months.

According to Col. A. C. Earnshaw, chief of the intelligence unit of the department of internal revenue, the government has been trying for several months to locate the plant where the fake stamps were being printed.

Several days ago federal agents learned from New York that a trunk had been shipped to Chicago from several persons under investigation there in regard to their alleged activities among counterfeiters. Col. Earnshaw set two men to watch for the trunk.

When it arrived it was delivered to the store on State street. The agents learned that the trunk contained the forged stamps and set about to get evidence that they were being sold. Gabriel De Fiore, a secret service operative, bought a quantity of the stamps from Carlone, it was said.

Arrested Making Sale.

Yesterday the secret service men raided the place and took Carlone while in the act of selling a lot of stamps to a customer.

According to the federal agents a person would manufacture a quantity of moonshine whiskey and put it into pint bottles. He would then go to the salesman who sold the labels and get a complete set for each bottle. When the moonshine whiskey was labeled it would be sold as "genuine eight year old" whiskey.

WITNESSES TELL OF WAR 'CRIMES'; SHY ON DETAILS

Senate Inquiry on Watson Charges Continues.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—None of the six witnesses appearing today before a senate committee was able to give first hand evidence to support charges by Senator Watson, Georgia, that American soldiers had been hanged without trial in France.

George H. Taylor of Philadelphia, Pa., thin and frail and under treatment, as he himself explained, for epilepsy, declared he had seen twelve soldiers hanged, or more than the number listed by the war department, as executed in accordance with court martial verdicts approved by Gen. Pershing.

Taylor, confused as to the number of victims, testified at first that he had seen three, and then under direct questioning increased his figures to four, and finally to twelve.

All of these, he declared, were put to death in and around Is-sur-Tille in the period from April to June, 1919. In no instance could the witness say he knew whether any or all of the twelve had been tried by a military court.

Accused Sends Quick Denial.

Testimony by Henry L. Scott, 25 years old, of Kenmore, O., that he had seen two soldiers shot down in cold blood by a "Major Opley," commander of the 3d battalion, 118th Infantry, brought a quick and sharp denial from Maj. Hiram L. Opley at his home at Staunton, Va. Maj. Opley was in charge of that organization and he announced that he would be glad to appear before the committee. In making a sweeping denial of the charge, Maj. Opley declared that Scott "writes himself down as a skulker by his own testimony" that he belonged to another outfit and never should have been in the fighting line with the 3d battalion.

Scott was positive in the assertion that he saw both men killed at different times—that the first shooting of a soldier was witnessed by several hundred men and that he alone saw the second.

Says He Saw Two Lynchings.

Although he did not know of his own knowledge of any executions without trials, Robert A. Harrison of Wilmington, N. C., told the committee he "had witnessed two lynchings." The first victim was a Mexican from El Paso or Eagle Pass, Texas, who was charged with a crime against a woman and not tried.

"I was told that the man had to be hanged to save some officers from being cashiered," Harrison declared.

Harrison, told of another lynching after the armistice, which he declared was directed by "Hard-Bolled" Smith. "This wrist of mine," said Harrison, lifting his left arm, "was broken while trying to save myself from Hard-Bolled Smith and a couple of his sergeants."

Admits He Was Court-Martialed.

"Were you court-martialed?" Senator Overman asked.

"Yes. The colonel cursed me and I cursed him back and he had me sent to the firing line after trial. His name? Col. Holdbrook. If I ever get him I'll make him remember me."

"They wouldn't give me a gas mask and my trouble today is due to gas, the medical record shows."

Cochran Supplee of Chicago, who was a first lieutenant overseas, was called as a witness, but declared he knew nothing about illegal hangings in France.

COUNCIL PLANS WAR ON HI COST OF BAKERY GOODS

Bakery goods prices form almost the only peak in the housewife's landscape which has steadfastly refused to show any signs of "getting back to earth."

City Food Expert Poole declared yesterday in announcing that an assault will be made on this price citadel by the council committee on living costs.

Mr. Poole said that he has watched the gradual descent of flour from $15.50 a barrel, the peak price of 1920, to $7.30 a barrel, the normal price of today, with high hopes that the decline would be reflected in bread and bakery prices, but that the prices now charged, especially in loaf "specialty" stores, remain at the early high level.

"New York is putting out a sixteen ounce loaf of bread for 8 cents, while Chicago continues to pay a dime for the pound loaf and 15 cents for the pound and one-half loaf," Mr. Poole said.

"Over the counter two ounce sweet rolls are selling for 10 cents each. That is $1.20 a dozen, an unjustifiable price. Ordinary rolls are 25 cents a dozen. The old price was a dime."

"Perhaps the boldest bit of profiteering in the bakery game; however, are the prices charged for pound coffee cakes, which run all the way from 35 cents to 70 cents, despite the drop in flour, lard, and other ingredients."

"The bakers are crying that business is poor, but I notice that a Detroit concern thinks enough of business possibilities here to invade this city on a large scale."

CHINESE STILL 'SHANGHAIED' IN SHANTUNG DEAL

"Waiting on Tokio" at End of Another Day.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—Japanese-Chinese negotiations over the Shantung question were suspended indefinitely today. The official reason given was that the Japanese delegation had to get new instructions from Tokio.

In American and British quarters the situation had looked cheerful. Secretary Hughes had been extremely hopeful that another conference might have been removed. But at 6:30 o'clock tonight, when the conferees came down the marble stairway of the Pan-American building, it was learned that all hope of settlement, until after the holidays, at least, had fled.

What Delegates Say.
"We have reached a point where it is useless to proceed with the discussion," said Dr. Wellington Koo.
"The whole thing has been referred to Tokio," said Dr. Wang.

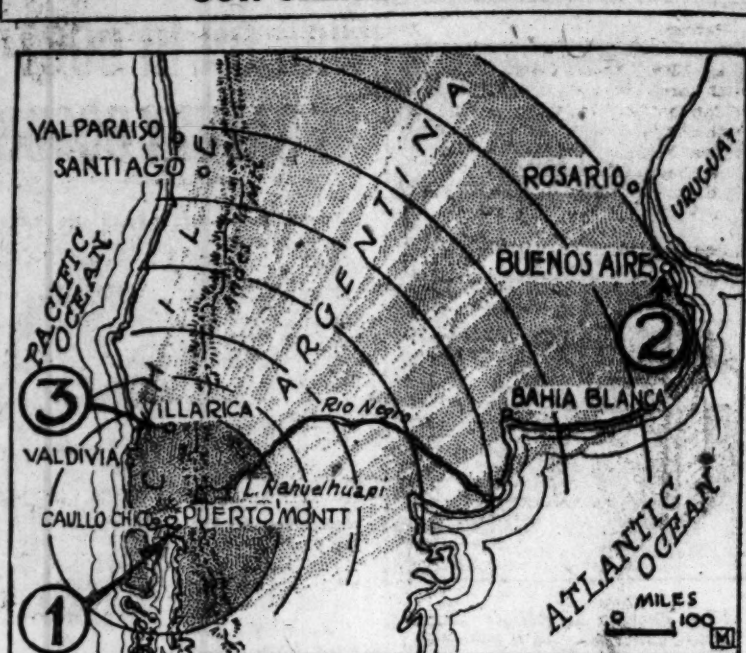

"It is over the traffic management remaining in the hands of the Japanese," said Dr. Alfred Sze.

"We have referred questions concerning payment for the railroad and the employment of Japanese experts," said M. Hanihara, Japanese delegate. The Japanese also insist that their capitalists supply the money with which China is to pay for the road.

Japs Want Railroad Reins.
China is said to have agreed today to most of the Japanese propositions, particularly the offer to extend the installment payments for the road over a period of ten years, with the provision that for the first three years China was to pay only the interest on the loan, and at the end of that time have the option of paying the entire sum in cash.

But the agreement stalled when it came to the appointment of a Japanese as traffic manager, holding all the trade strings in his hands.

OUR CREAKING GLOBE

Continents Rocks

BY J. W. WHITE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.]

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 21.—A new phase of the seismic disturbances which were indicated by the October earthquakes is now in full swing. The South American continent is shaking at both ends, an intense quake being reported last night in the province of Calamarca, northern Peru, coincident with activity in several less important volcanoes in southern Chile. Ashes are falling in Buenos Aires (2) 700 miles away.

Since mid-October there have been unusually strong earthquakes clear down the Andes range from Lima to Puerto Montt. Both Santiago and Valparaiso have been shaken violently several times this month.

The present volcanic activity is south of last year's activity at Villarica (3) and includes several minor volcanoes, but only two, Renihue and Caulico Chico (1), so far have been reported as erupting. Callicoro and several others are reported to be rumbling. Many refugees are pouring into Osorno from the surrounding country as a result of the fall of ashes from Caulico Chico. The surrounding territory is almost completely buried, the crops being destroyed and likewise the fodder for cattle.

Many white families and an unknown number of Indians near Lake Nahuelhupai are homeless and foodless, being isolated by the ashes, which makes rescue difficult. The Argentine authorities are organizing a relief expedition to aid the sufferers.

HARDING GIVES PACIFIC PEACE SHIP A SHOCK

islands constituting Japan proper or to the Hawaiian Islands and Aleutian Islands.

In the four power treaty, however, the American delegation desired the Hawaiian Islands to have the status of "insular possessions" or "insular dominions," although they are neither under their incorporation by act of congress in the American union as a territory eligible to statehood. They wanted Japan pledged not to attack the Hawaiian Islands as well as the Philippine Islands, and this point was deemed all the more important because the Japanese are becoming the dominant population of Hawaii.

It was conceived that Japan might dispute the application of the treaty pledges to islands which are neither a possession nor dominion but a part of the United States proper. To remove that possibility and to preserve the same right to fortify the Hawaiian Islands as the Japanese preserve to fortify their main islands the American delegation proposed to apply the treaty to all islands of the four powers in the Pacific, irrespective of their status as governmental entities.

Baron Kato's Objection.
At one of the last meetings of the Big Three on the formulation of the treaty Mr. Hughes proposed that the treaty be construed as applicable to Japan proper, as to all other Pacific islands. Baron Kato surprised Mr. Hughes by objecting. Whether he had in mind the elimination of Hawaii from the purview of the treaty if Japan proper were eliminated does not appear. He contented himself with the argument that it placed Japan in a humiliating position to be the only one of the contracting powers to whose homeland it was deemed necessary to extend the protection of the mutual guarantees.

Mr. Balfour supported Mr. Hughes. He said that the British empire was an entity and that Australia and New Zealand could be brought within the purview of the treaty not because of any less independent status than Great Britain, but because they were islands in the Pacific. Japan proper should be included for the same reason. If Japan proper were not included, because it was not a dependency, Australia and New Zealand, being included, would feel that they were classed as dependencies.

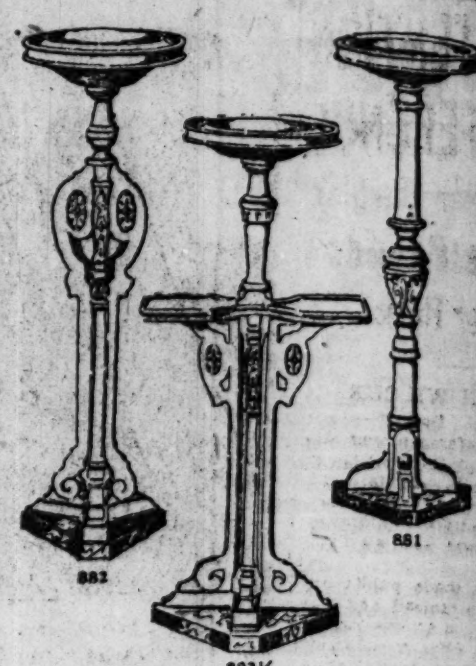

Refuses to Discuss Construction.
Baron Kato finally agreed to the construction and to sign the treaty with this understanding. Prince Tokugawa of the Japanese delegation has stated it to be his understanding that the treaty applies to Japan proper. When questioned tonight, however, Baron Kato declined to affirm or deny that this construction was agreed upon by the Big Three. He would not admit that the treaty applied either to Japan proper or to the Hawaiian Islands. He said the treaty and its construction was being studied by the Tokio government, that the construction might "be changed by agreement at some future time."

Borah Scores "Diplomats."
Speaking of the president's original idea that the treaty does not apply to Japan proper, while Mr. Hughes and other negotiators say it does, Senator Borah commented:
"How can any one criticize those who are opposing the treaty for having called attention to an instrument that is so ambiguous, so uncertain, that it is differently construed in different places by the makers of it within a week after it is signed?"

"Before it gets through the senate the makers of the treaty will have an opportunity to say what it does mean. All I care to say now, with due deference to the framers of it, is that this treaty is indefinite, uncertain, and clumsily written. It reads as if it were written by a man who is in a hurry to catch a train or by those who want it so uncertain that in an emergency it could be construed any way the constructors wanted to construe it."

"The highest art of the modern diplomat is to write a treaty so that it may be construed any way it is necessary to construe it."

ment desire, which you yourself have so eloquently expressed, that the economic burden of armament should be lifted. It is not against the interests of France that we express the hope that her industry and resources will be devoted to economic recuperation, and the enhancement of her prosperity rather than be expended in the building of fighting ships.

The particular situation of France with respect to land armament you have vividly portrayed, but that points, as it seems to us, to the very great importance of reduction in naval armament.
At this time, when we are anxious to aid France in full recovery of her economic life, it would be most disappointing to be advised that she was contemplating putting hundreds of millions into battleships.

Sarrault Depicts France's Needs.
Mr. Sarrault, chief of the French delegation, said tonight that he did not believe any other power could present a good case against the French demand for a larger allowance of auxiliary craft.

"Capital ships are for aggression," he said. "France accepts a small proportion of capital ships—ships of aggression, France demands a larger allowance of smaller craft—ships of defense. It cannot be said that France desires these smaller craft to attack any one. We need them to protect our coasts and to insure the lines of communication with our colonies which are far flung.

"These colonies of France have 60-000,000 people in them and it is necessary that we maintain close connections with them. If it is not wished that the French flag be banished from the seas certainly there can be no objection to our asking for a large allowance of these defensive craft.

Regrets Impression Made.
"I cannot at this time say just what we will ask for; we will present our demands first to the conference. But we do want a larger tonnage in light cruisers and submarines than we would get by applying to us the ratio between auxiliary craft and capital ships that has been laid down by the original plan of naval limitation."

CITY HOSPITAL
EXPERIMENTS ON CHILDREN CHARGE

An order directing that the city contagious disease hospital physicians and staff are using children patients for experimental work in clinics was issued yesterday by Judge Philip Sullivan.

The order followed many complaints made by mothers and others that their children, taken to the hospital for contagious diseases, were kept as long as four years, being inoculated with other loathsome and serious diseases that they might serve as subjects for clinics.

Dr. John Dill Robertson, city health commissioner, characterized the charges as falsehoods and the work of "the league for medical freedom."

"DRESS SQUAD" NAMED TO SEEK SOCIETY BOOZE

Twelve new injunctions closing salons and soft drink places, the formation of a "dress suit squad" to look in upon supposed "exclusive society violinists," and further raids and the assessment of numerous fines in various Municipal courts, were included in the list of anti-booze activities yesterday.

The injunctions were issued by Federal Judge Landis on petition of Special Assistant Attorney General C. W.
Middlekauff. Most of them related to places on the south side.

The "dress suit squad" planned by Chief of Police Fitzmorris will be in command of Capt. Patrick Lavin of the central detail station. All places of merriment, cabarets and hotels, are to be kept under surveillance.

Nine Taken in Raid.
Nine men were arrested yesterday in a former poolroom at 947 Vernon Park place by the Maxwell street police.
They believe the place to be a distributing center for illicit booze. A large quantity of moonshine was seized.

Eight barrels of moonshine were found in the saloon of Thomas Kapes at 1827 Alport avenue in a raid yesterday. All but two bottles were destroyed. Kapes was fined $100 and costs.

Fines of $200 and costs were assessed against Elias J. Palm, 6107
Wentworth avenue, and Albert Singer, 322 West Lake street, saloonkeepers, by Judge Joseph W. Schulman in the Des Plaines street court yesterday.

Police testified that stills, mash, and moonshine had been found in the places.

Frank Bettner and Frank Vehel, saloonkeepers, were fined $100 and $25, respectively by Judge John A. Bugue in the Maxwell street court.

Raid Loop Cigar Store.
A squad of police from the central station raided the combined poolroom and cigar store of Louis Lavin, 10 North Wells street, last night. William James, 4233 Grand boulevard, was taken into custody when three quarts of whiskey and two gallons of wine were found.

Paul Cook, bartender in a saloon at 455 Rush street, had three bottles of "white mule" behind the bar. Jailed.
Christ Landis, at 437, yielded two bottles of "mule" and a bottle of wine.
J. Raccavene, 846 Milton avenue, won't carry any more jugs of moonshine.

around the streets. They caught him last night.
Capt. Patrick Gallery of the Des
Plaines street station caught Dominic
Brizolara, 1301 West Van Buren street, with three bottles of whiskey and Herman Canabum, 649 West Madison street, with another. Both were booked.
If Charles Neilligan, 1264 Clybourn avenue, had been able to carry a tune he would be out of jail. He didn't and Policeman William Allen heard him.

FLEISCHMAN'S Fresher Flowers Last Longer

IF YOU have been accustomed to expecting cut flowers to last merely for a day or two we suggest you get acquainted with Fleischman's. Frequently we are complimented upon the unusual length of time our flowers last. This is true because we never handle any but the very freshest flowers. They are fresher and better. Yet they cost no more than at any other store.

A Christmas Suggestion: A Fleischman Corsage of Violets, Ward Roses, Orchids or Sweet Peas, artistically arranged

JAPAN CABINET WEIGHS BUDGET AND BIG DEFICIT

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
TOKIO, Dec. 20.—The cabinet devoted most of today's session to discussion of the budget. It also considered Siberia, but without any apparent result. The budget calls for 1,466,000,000 yen (roughly $723,000,000), but subject to considerable reduction when the Washington agreement is ratified. The decrease is 119,000,000 yen ($59,500,000) over last year, which is an insufficient accomplishment without resorting to extra methods of producing revenue.

The national bond issue will be for $12,000,000 yen ($59,000,000), which is 20,000,000 yen ($10,000,000) less than last year, but the conversions aggregate 400,000,000 yen ($200,000,000) besides the requirements for extraordinary expenses, bringing the total bond requirements to 700,000,000 yen ($350,000,000).

Premier Takahashi is seriously concerned as to whether Japan will digest such a sum in view of the tightness of money and the rapidly increasing import excess. This situation makes it vital that Japan go the limit to reach an agreement at Washington by which the huge armament expenses can be curtailed.

USE OF HOSPITAL TRAIN TO SOLVE LORENZ'S PROBLEM

Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the Vienna surgeon, who has been invited to Chicago by Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson, is to make the trip west in a special hospital train fitted up for the purpose of holding free clinics, according to dispatches from New York last night. The details of the surgeon's tour of Michigan were arranged in New York yesterday at a conference between Dr. Lorenz, Mayor Coughlin of (Photo: Und. & Und.) Detroit, Health Commissioner Coughlin of New York, and Dr. Lorenz himself. The use of a hospital train was decided upon because of the feeling against the Austrian surgeon among the medical profession of Michigan.

The Michigan tour is scheduled to start about Feb. 1, after which Dr. Lorenz will come to Chicago. Dr. Robertson said it had not been definitely decided where the clinics here will be held. An invitation has been extended by the trustees of the Chicago Osteopathic hospital for Dr. Lorenz to hold a clinic there.

CHICAGO JEWS GIVE $1,385,000 TO FAMINE FUND

Jeans of Chicago have contributed $1,385,000 to the fund being raised for the relief of the famine sufferers in eastern Europe, it was announced last night by the Chicago Jewish Relief Committee.

The drive, which originally had $750,000 as its objective, will close this week. The goal was made $1,500,000 for this district shortly after its inception. Yesterday 2,000 men and women dropped their other affairs to aid.

LOOP JEWELER HOLDS OWNER'S WATCH; ARRESTED

Sam Klein, proprietor of a loan shop in the Brevort hotel building, was arrested yesterday by Sergts. Burch and O'Brien of the pawn shop detail when he refused to return a stolen watch. He is charged with receiving stolen property.

The watch was taken from George Roesch of Franklin Park, an engineer for the Wisconsin Central railroad, in a holdup on Dec. 1. The watch was traced to Klein's shop.

Little Girl Plays with Matches; Dies of Burns

Gertrude Meyers, 7 years old, played with matches in her home at 1317 Muskegon avenue, late last night. Her clothing caught fire and she died of the burns.

VETERANS SELL HANDIWORK FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS

Christmas presents, all made by the hands of men who bear the marks of wounds and injuries received in battle in France, were placed on sale yesterday in a store, without cost, for the occasion, at 157 North Michigan avenue.

A bugler stood in front of the store all day and blew the notes of "attention" to the passers-by on the boulevard. Many people went into the place to buy some little thing to be given away at Christmas.

The articles on sale were made by the wounded soldiers of the Speedway, Fort Sheridan, Marine, and Public Service hospitals. They include lamps, dolls, pillowcases, and knickknacks of every description.

Each man who has an article on sale receives the amount to be used in making the shut-in life of the wounded soldier just a little more pleasant during the holiday season, for which it is sold. The sale will continue for several days.

Southern Utah Town Is Rocked by 14 Earthquakes

Salt Lake City, Dec. 20.—Elsinore, a town in southern Utah, which was rocked by an earthquake in October, again suffered from the earth's movement today, when fourteen shocks between 3 a. m. and 9 a. m. were recorded, according to word reaching here.

The worst damage reported was the falling of a chimney stack on a sugar company's factory. In view of the disturbance, no school was held today.

Daylight Robbers Loot Evanston Homes of Gems

Daylight robbers resumed operations in Evanston yesterday, two homes being looted of jewelry valued at $800.

A. B. Southworth, 606 Hinman avenue, lost diamond studs and a tiara valued at $350. From the home of James B. Gawnigne, 716 Foster avenue, the burglars took a diamond ring and a watch valued at $450. Gawnigne said the watch was given to his father in 1863.

HOME RULE FOR N. Y. PLANNED BY CHARTER BOARD

New York, Dec. 20.—The charter revision commission, appointed by Gov. Miller, today directed Controller Craig to draft a home rule charter for New York City, to be presented as a starting point for discussions at a meeting to be held on Jan. 16.

The resolution specified that it should be "a short charter, with the legislative power vested in the city."

Mr. Craig previously had told other members of the commission he favored only a charter which would give the city sweeping general and specific grants of power, and that the legislative authority of the state should be limited to matters "obviously of state concern." He said he would vest control of the city in a "local assembly" with two branches—the board of aldermen and the board of estimate and apportionment.

GEORGE L. ROGERS, best hired man in Palos Park, Ill., in talking yesterday before the City club, compared China to a perpetual grist mill. It goes on and on, slowly but surely, he said.

"China will win through in the end, as she always has done," Mr. Rogers said. "Europe obtained tea, paper, porcelain, gunpowder, and many other things from the orient, and transmitted them to America. Europe will learn more lessons from China before she dies. We should not be impatient at the length of time it takes China to learn our aggressive western ways."

CHARLES R. CRANE, former United States minister to the Chinese republic, in talking yesterday before the City club, compared China to a perpetual grist mill. It goes on and on, slowly but surely, he said.

"China will win through in the end, as she always has done," Mr. Crane said. "Europe obtained tea, paper, porcelain, gunpowder, and many other things from the orient, and transmitted them to America. Europe will learn more lessons from China before she dies. We should not be impatient at the length of time it takes China to learn our aggressive western ways."

Mr. Crane said the international famine relief work was one of the greatest humanitarian acts in history. America gained much credit for this work in China and other countries would be glad to enjoy the influence America does in China.

POINT AT ISSUE IN TAXICAB TEST CASE IS MISSED

The so-called "test case" of one of the important points raised against the Checker Taxi company by the city law department probably will go to a jury today in Municipal Judge Wells M. Cook's court.

The brief testimony required was taken yesterday morning, but shortly after the noon recess there was an agreement of counsel to "permit the jurors to do their Christmas shopping" during the afternoon and Judge Cook allowed the argument of the case to go over. Another motive prompting the delay was the desire that the case go to the jury early in the day so that it might have ample time to consider its problem before nightfall.

But those who have been watching the case from a neutral standpoint expressed regret that the "test" as disclosed by the testimony does not try out the real issue between the city law department and the taxicab companies, which it charges are merely a sort of service association of individual drivers who own their own cars.

More than 300 drivers of cabs bearing the name of this sort of company were arrested last fall. The Checker company is the largest one affected. In all these instances the charge was that the owner had violated the ordinance provision requiring that the name of the owner be printed on the door of the cab in letters at least two inches high.

In this "test" the city charged that while the cab door bore the name of the Checker company the real owner of the cab was Maurice Tannenbaum, the driver, who was arrested. The policeman who made the arrest testified that he had put the direct question to the driver and received a reply that he, Tannenbaum, was the owner. This Tannenbaum, on the witness stand, denied. Then his further testimony showed that the supposed "test" was not one. He said that on the night he was arrested he was not in the cab that he drove regularly but one which the superintendent of the Checker company had lent him temporarily. His regular cab, he said, he had "sold" to the company in exchange for five shares of stock. But he admitted that he never had received the stock and that he never had actually turned physical possession of the cab over to anybody connected with the company. Had this cab been involved in the case, lawyers said, the case would have been a real test.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR CHICAGO

1—Build the Subway Now.

CALL AN ECONOMIC CONFERENCE.

There is a vociferous minority opposing ratification of the four power treaty. More exactly, there are several subminorities. There are the impractical pacifists who will take nothing less than immediate, complete disarmament. There are the Anglophobes who can be satisfied with nothing less than war with perfidious Albion. There are the irreconcilable irreconcilables who aim at the complete isolation of the United States.

All of these subminorities united would not make a very formidable minority, much less a majority. If there could be a showdown at this time, but with their committees and conventions at Washington, picketing, and noisy parades with flamboyant banners they appear to be more important than they are. The more serious manifestation is in a malcontent and unscrupulous part of the press which, appealing alike to heedless jingoism, race prejudice, and alien partisanship, is able to foment an opposition injurious to the peace of the people and embarrassing to our negotiations for peaceful adjustment through the conference.

It is well, therefore, to state just exactly what this opposition, if effectual, would mean.

It would mean that the two greatest naval powers in the world other than ourselves would remain in alliance, while we stand alone.

It would mean that these powers, the greatest, except America, in the Pacific and the far east, would remain in alliance as to policies affecting not only the sea but the Asiatic mainland.

It would mean that the Philippines would continue to be the most vulnerable of our possessions, a cause of certain conflict.

It would mean that, confronted by this situation, the United States would be compelled either to invite humiliation and the reassertion of right and dignity through a long war, for which we were unprepared, or the immediate preparation on a huge scale for war. This preparation would involve an enormous expenditure, the building for years to come of a great navy, and the development of an army which would be, in fact, our nation in arms.

That is the dark and insane alternative which this minority would have us choose.

It does not express the common sense or enlightened self interest of the American people. On the contrary, the nation is back of the proposals of our delegation and in whole hearted sympathy with the objects of the conference. It was so on the day of the opening of the conference. It is even more so now that the results are appearing. The nation seizes with eagerness and gratitude the measures which will save it from the crushing burden of a gigantic armament. It welcomes with intense relief the removal of the Philippines as a standing threat on the flank of Japan and, therefore, a standing peril to our peace. It looks upon the four power arrangement for conference and amicable discussion of differences as a bright augury and practical agency of our future peace in the Pacific.

These are substantial and inspiring achievements which the nation approves and will powerfully support. They suggest the possibility, even the probability, of further success in the formulation of peace conditions among nations. We urge that the present conference be promptly followed by an economic and financial conference for the refunding of the war debts, the correction of the international terms of the Paris treaties, and the formulation of agreements as to trade, use of resources, fiscal and military policies which are essential to check the descent of Europe to chaos and to its gradual restoration to health and progress.

The nations must cooperate for their common salvation and prosperity. Nothing less than all their powers and resources employed in combination will avail, and it should be the next effort of the United States to bring them to a new counsel.

The difficulties are many and some seem insurmountable. But they should be attacked without further procrastination. The American government, as the chief creditor and greatest present power in the world, is in a position to take the initiative.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN FIRST.

Recent communications of Miss Jane Addams in the "Voice of the People" column, designed to put the public right on her view and the majority view of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom concerning world peace and the four power alliance, as expressed at a recent meeting in Washington, prompt us to offer a few comments of our own.

Not many years ago, Miss Addams occupied a place in the hearts of Chicagoans and in the civic life of the city, certainly above that of any other woman, and probably above that of any individual. She had gone into the slums of Halsted street, and through her self-sacrificing and intelligent work for women and children, and to a lesser extent for men there, had made her name famous and powerful for good. She not only made herself an active influence for the material betterment of these people, but projected herself into the thought of the entire community. She became, we might say, a living, vocal, civic conscience. She could go before the city council or the state legislature, make a statement of fact and need, and obtain action because the people knew it was not politics, but right. They knew it was right because Jane Addams said it was right.

But Miss Addams was not satisfied. Her looks on children and women and social problems had extended her field of influence to the world. They are still recognized as high authority and a potent influence for good. Miss Addams wished to follow up their influence in person. She became first a national, then an international character. She became a politician, and sought to become a statesman. There, we believe, her wrong turning was made.

Politicians are necessary evils in modern government, but to become a politician is a step down, not a step up, for a humanitarian. However high her purpose, Miss Addams' influence immediately began to wane.

Truth admits of no compromise. Politics requires it. Miss Addams, who in the old days was never asked to compromise, is now forced to do it. She is shocked and disturbed. She fails to realize that she is fighting, perhaps for a higher ideal than ever, but on a lower plane where the weapons and customs are ruder and more primitive.

In the old days she never had to explain. Now she is frequently explaining. That reveals the change in her condition and influence. She has to explain because she puts herself in compromising positions. For instance, she marches under banners inscribed, "Make the Disarmament Conference Disarm." "Immediate, Universal, Complete Disarmament," etc., and then resents the charge that the meeting from which these banners were carried opposed the four power alliance. It is bad practice. It is quibbling.

We know that Miss Addams does not care for advice from us. But in so far as she has become a public character who seeks publicity, it is fair to say that she has somewhat spoiled a great humanitarian to become a rather indifferent stateswoman.

THE TRIBUNE TO SEC. DAVIS.

In the Voice of the People is published a letter from Secretary Davis of the department of labor saying that the facts contained in an editorial were not facts, and that the criticism was not well founded.

The editorial questioned Mr. Davis' knowledge of immigration conditions. He denied abuses which THE TRIBUNE knows existed. Mr. Davis says that when he makes a statement of fact he takes care that every vestige of it is either of personal knowledge or has been carefully checked by confidential men.

In the case of Ellis Island Mr. Davis knew what he saw or what other interested men told him. He and the confidential men were observing their own responsibilities and they found them good. The department inspected itself and said it was good. If the department conceded it was good everybody else must know it.

THE TRIBUNE'S "second hand" information of Ellis Island and the immigration methods was obtained by sending Miss Forbes to Ireland to return to her own country in the steerage as an Irish girl with a British passport.

Miss Forbes went through the immigration mill. Mr. Davis has observed it as the secretary of labor might observe it. Is he so credulous as to believe that the eye of the secretary develops and encourages abuses? Does he believe that when the secretary of labor visits Ellis Island his subordinates want to expose under his eyes everything that he as a right minded man could condemn?

If Miss Forbes had been known as an American newspaper reporter she would not have had the experiences which fall to the lot of the immigrant. It was because she was regarded as an Irish immigrant girl that she had them and could see what happened to the people the United States is receiving as its future citizens.

She was restrained in what she wrote of the coarseness and brutality of some of the men in American uniforms and of the indecencies to which girls and women coming to America were exposed. The manner in which these newcomers were ushered into the United States disgraced the nation in many respects and hurt it, because the people thus handled were to live here and they started with such impressions.

We doubt that any of Mr. Davis' informants ever went through the mill. THE TRIBUNE has an investigation of immigration from its source through Ellis Island, and Miss Forbes can present Mr. Davis with more facts than his confidential men ever have given him and with more than ever came to his personal knowledge.

It would do Mr. Davis more credit if the facts and not the investigator aroused his indignation. Miss Forbes had no prejudices in the matter, except as an American is naturally prejudiced in favor of the uniform of the United States in any service and wants to find that it reveals good purposes rather than racially ones.

CHARITY AT HOME.

The national house of representatives has just voted enthusiastically $20,000,000 for the relief of hungry Russians. Millions more from private donors are being contributed through the American Relief association. There is also a Near East Relief at work, and last year we were saving starving Chinamen. American Jews of this city alone have just subscribed a million and a half for their unfortunate co-religionists in Eastern Europe. German-Americans of the city have been raising a fund for the underfed children of central Europe.

All this seems to prove that the impulse of pity is strong in our country and our city. How, then, is it that the United Charities has not been able to raise the full amount estimated to be needed for the aid of the destitute at our doorstep? This estimate called for a million. Only $300,000 has been pledged.

We do not feel that America should turn from the unfortunate of other lands, but we do believe that charity begins at home. The community faces the winter season certain that thousands of our neighbors will be without work and in sore need of the bare necessities of existence. Chicago's children will be undernourished and ill clothed, as well as the children of far away regions. We do not say let the latter die without our aid. We do say that it is a perversion of charity and an injustice if we allow our sympathy for them to take the edge off our feeling for our own. We are more responsible for suffering in this city than for suffering in China or Russia or Armenia or central Europe. We are more responsible for the conditions that afflict our own people and for their relief.

We have given generously to the needy of other countries. But that generosity becomes injustice if we neglect our own.

Editorial of the Day

OUR FLOATING MAN TRAPS.

On submarines the United States navy continues to be out of luck. The newest and biggest one, F-48, ingloriously sank Wednesday and lay helpless while the crew of forty-three men battled with water and chlorine gas until one of them crawled through a torpedo tube and managed to signal a passing vessel. This is the second recent accident in which a crew was imperiled. In the F-4, which sank in Hawaii several years ago, not a man was saved.

The question would seem to be not whether we can afford to scrap submarines, but whether we can afford to keep them.

Harv said the Wake would die.

But somebody had to hew the Line.

That is why.

That is why.

That is why.

THIS PLACE HAS CHANGED HANDS. Until Paz gets through vacationing, until Harvey Help-Help arouses the Wake of the News from a four days' case of suspended animation and as long as the Line readers and the Helpful Contrite remain perfectly calm and keep their seats this Line will have a Substitute Conductor. The change could be noted without looking at the end of the column. Now don't look! Wait! You'll know soon enough. No, no, don't tell him, Carlisle! Make him read the column down to the end and find out for himself.

The Substitute Conductor is embarrassed and apologetic. He will accept plugged times, cigarette coupons and last year's transfers and probably walk on your feet. He is overwhelmed at finding himself in this place if only for a week. Please treat him as kindly as possible. He is doing the best he can.

That's all! All aboard! Sorry lady, you can't bring that dog on this car. Move up forward, please, plenty of room at the front.

Laura, you singer, we enjoy your lays. For your sweet music we have naught but praise. Your style is simple and your thought sincere, Yet all your notes are musical and clear. Your lyric lines possess a subtle charm, Doubt to dispel and hatred to disarm. Hope to renew and courage to impart, Distilling beauty by their matchless art. Hence, for your music, we have only praise. Laura, you singer, we enjoy your lays.

NEWEST SOCIAL RULES FOR EXCLUSIVE CLUBS.

Be careful that no cork be found lying on the floor, and especially see that no empty bottle of any nature whatsoever be discovered on the premises. If the cork is found the newspapers will refer to it as an Orgie of Vice while the empty bottle will constitute a Central of Crime.

Anybody having hip pockets will be requested to leave the club. Those having hips will not be admitted.

Detectives roosting in the club waiting for evidence are expected to dance with the debutantes. A nice conversational opening is "Say kid, you're some queen. Let's jazz."

Detectives in conversing with society matrons must not refer to each other as "detectives" or "Big Dicks." The a in detective is silent as in muck, fish and milk.

Reporters and photographers waiting for the regular evening raid should shoot craps in the middle of the ball room floor. It gives a party a certain touch of the bizarre, the unusual, that is most enchanting.

In reporting to a superior officer a detective, whose suspicions are aroused concerning the possession of intoxicants by a society dowager, the detective will merely say in a clear firm voice that cannot be heard more than two miles away: "Say Cap, skid's got hootch in her kick."

(Added Rules From Day to Day.)

TREAD-MILL.

When I get up by candle light
It seems the middle of the night
And in the west Astoria bright
Sinks in the mists of Skoklo valley.
Over the lake a scarlet smear
Proclaims the well known dawn is near (A fact confirmed by Chanticleer),
As to the early train I sally.

Home on the evening five-o-nine
I dream of this or that design
To turn the music-to make The Lane,
Or turn by chance some winning card—
I dream of things that he afar—

CONINGBURY.

They're Just Going to Keep Sending Me This Again
And Again and Again, I'll Put the Blame Thing Now and Have Done with It.

PORT HURON, Dec. 13.—Alfred Anderson of Sandusky went out on his farm near Sandusky the other day, accompanied by his dog, to plant dynamite under some stumps he wanted to blow up. The dog had been trained by Anderson's children to dig up sticks which they buried, so after Anderson buried a stick of dynamite and lighted the fuse, the dog dug it up.

Sensing his danger, Anderson ran for his life, with the dog in close pursuit, the dynamite in his mouth and the fuse dangling from it, sizzling and sputtering. The dog was gaining rapidly on its terror-stricken master when the fuse touched off the dynamite and there was a roar like a shell fired from a German big gun.

Anderson was thrown to the ground by the detonation. The dog simply vanished.

YES, DOUG, BUT—

"Speaking of absent minded profs, did you ever hear of the one who was busy in his study when the nurse came down to announce the arrival of a new member of the family? Professor," she said, "it's a little boy." "Well," says the prof, "ask him what he wants."

DOUG.

We told this story once in London, and the duchess or the marchioness across the table said, "O, don't stop. I love naughty stories. What did the little boy want?"

We'll Bile—Where Does He Carry It?

"Dear Mr. Whoever is Running the Line Today. We are apt to laugh at children for not being better informed about things of the most common knowledge. For instance, there is one edition of a certain text book in use in the Chicago schools that teaches that the bee carries the pollen from the flowers to the hive in pockets on his hind legs while another edition of the same book declares that the bee carries the pollen in its abdomen."

TEACHER.

Oh happy little bee, whenever we see a hootch-sleuth looking at our hip we wish we had pockets on our hind legs.

They'd Been to Faculty Suppers Before.

[From the Mauston, Wis. Star.]

The teachers of the Mauston schools enjoyed a faculty supper Monday evening. The committee consisted of Miss Wells, Mr. Bonar, Miss Rhode, and Miss McEvoy. Nearly all the teachers took out accident and health insurance the past week.

MORE ON VITAMINES.

THE food sources of fat soluble vitamins, according to McCarrison's collection of the reports of investigations made all over the world, are: Milk, butter, egg yolk, green leaves, and the growing parts of plants. It is present in abundance in liver, kidney, heart, in salmon, herring and other fat fish. Crude cod liver oil contains 250 times as much of it as does butter or the refined cod liver oil. It is abundant in spinach, lettuce, cabbage, Brussels sprouts. Tomatoes and soy beans are rich in it. Such foods as potatoes, carrots, beets, radishes, and turnips are rather poor in it.

The foods which contain no fat soluble vitamins are as follows: Skim milk, skim milk cheese, olive oil, cotton seed oil, coconut oil, lard, hardened or hydrogenated animal and vegetable fats, margarine made from vegetable fats and containing no animal fats, peanut oil, palm oil, and lard and bacon fat; white flour, pure corn flour, polished rice, custard powders, glucose, sugar, sirup, egg substitutes, meat extracts, highly refined foods, and white fish.

The body has the capacity of storing considerable quantities of vitamins. The conditions present in some of these are just the opposite of those present in others. Symptoms of one kind are: Rapid, nervous pulse, intermittent pounding of the heart, shallow breathing, trembling of the hands.

Some cases are cured by operation, some by X-rays, some by radium, some by iodine, some by other medical treatment, some by good hygiene.

1. Yes. However, it may also mean organic heart trouble, functional heart trouble, tobacco poisoning, nervousness.

2. Not positively, but it is about the best test we have.

3. There are many thyroid troubles. The conditions present in some of these are just the opposite of those present in others. Symptoms of one kind are: Rapid, nervous pulse, intermittent pounding of the heart, shallow breathing, trembling of the hands.

4. Some cases are cured by operation, some by X-rays, some by radium, some by iodine, some by other medical treatment, some by good hygiene.

5. While there's life.

L. D. writes: "I am 53 years old, subject to weak heart, otherwise healthy. I have myocarditis. Please let me know if it can be cured and if I am in any immediate danger."

Myocarditis is either an inflammation or a degeneration of the heart muscle. This condition is always important.

Some cases of myocarditis are incurable. Some cases can be restored to an efficient life by rest or exercise, sometimes one way, sometimes the other, by change of habits and all around following directions.

6. RATS CARRY JAUNDICE.

G. W. writes: "We have at least fifteen cases of yellow jaundice in our town at the present time. My youngest girl of 6 just got well from it. Now the other one of 8 is getting ill."

1. What causes yellow jaundice?

2. Is it contagious? Have heard that too much milk and eggs causes it.

3. What is the simplest and quickest cure?

4. And what diet at this time?

1. The epidemic form of the disease is due to a spiral germ which is carried by ordinary rats that transmit it to human beings to some unknown way.

2. It is not supposed to be contagious in the ordinary sense.

3. The only treatment is such medicine as is needed to meet symptoms.

4. Give a very light diet.

A NECESSARY EVIL.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—[Friend of the People.]—The sidewalk in front of the factory at Harrison and Canal streets is always impassable between the hours of 7:30 and 8:30 in the morning and 4:30 and 5:30 in the evening on account of company's trucks, loading and unloading, blocking the sidewalk, and also extending six feet beyond the curb and blocking part of the street. It causes pedestrians to walk to the street, which is full of rubbish and water. W. F. R.

The sidewalk conditions in front of the factory at Harrison and Canal streets are due to the work of reconstruction in raising the grade of Canal street to conform to the grade of Harrison street viaduct. The system employed by the factory is temporary, pending the raising of the sidewalk to grade. Earth on street is to be used for filling.

LOST SHEEP.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Suppose one finds on the public highway a lost or strayed animal, a sheep, for instance. Would the finder have any legal claim on it, and in what way would he be protected? What efforts should he make to find the owner before he could claim the animal? Could the finder lawfully sell the animal so found?

J. C. S.

His claim would be superior to that of any other private individual accepting the owner, but statute requires that the animal be delivered to the pound, or that the provisions of the act in respect to the animal be followed. In neither case does the finder get more than his costs. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ALDERMEN PICKED TO INVESTIGATE TRACTION FUND

New Law Found Basis of City's "Due Bills."

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Chairman Reber of the council finance committee announced yesterday the selection of the subcommittee to investigate the city's traction fund. Its personnel is Ald. John Powers, Tuller, Moran and Walter Steffen and its first session will be deferred until after Christmas.

JOHN POWERS

The authority for the issuance of the first half of the year is in this form: "Such city council or board of trustees, as the case may be, may, in the year 1921, at any time during the first half of the fiscal year, authorize the issuance of certificates of indebtedness to be redeemed by war." (Tribune Photo.)

Provision in New Law.

In this law, which was house bill No. 59 passed as an emergency and approved on March 16 last, is a provision which permits the city to issue certificates of indebtedness for the first half of 1921. But the city of Chicago has been issuing these certificates after the first half of the fiscal year has passed.

What the authority is for issuing certificates after the first half of the year has not been discovered. Nor is it known whether any of the traction funds have been invested in certificates issued after the first half of the year is gone.

How the Statute Reads.

The authority for their issuance during the first half of the year is in this form: "Such city council or board of trustees, as the case may be, may, in the year 1921, at any time during the first half of the fiscal year, authorize the issuance of certificates of indebtedness to be redeemed by war." MAKING GOOD TRANSPORTATION BETTER IN OL' N.Y.

New York, Dec. 20.—[Special.]—Preliminary plans for a unified surface transportation system in Manhattan, with eleven lines running directly into the heart of Brooklyn residential sections and connecting with Queens surface roads, were submitted to the transit commission today by Daniel L. Turner, consulting engineer for the board. The proposal would scrap 100 miles of surface track, leaving 148 miles to be operated.

Operation would be by a single company instead of nine, permitting a return to the free universal transfers.

Ten of the thirty-five lines now used would go out of existence.

"Avenue" or north and south lines to be abandoned would include the Second, Lexington, Seventh and Ninth avenue roads. Tracks on these avenues would be torn up and the avenues reserved for vehicular traffic.

Streets Closed to "Slow" Traffic.

"Avenue" lines to be operated would be the First, Third, Madison, Eighth and Amsterdam avenue and Broadway lines.

Slow moving traffic would be kept from streets where the north and south lines operate, to permit cars to make average speed of ten miles an hour, instead of five miles an hour, getting passengers to and from work.

All surface lines south of Fourteenth street and west of Broadway would be eliminated, including the Chambers, Duane, Canal, Spring and Eighth streets, and Seventh and Eighth avenue lines south of Fourteenth street.

Trailer cars would be used during rush hours, doubling up the carrying capacity of cars operated.

Value Hard to Estimate.

Because of the traction "maze" it is impossible to secure any indication of the value—real or claimed—for the lines the Turner plan would scrap.

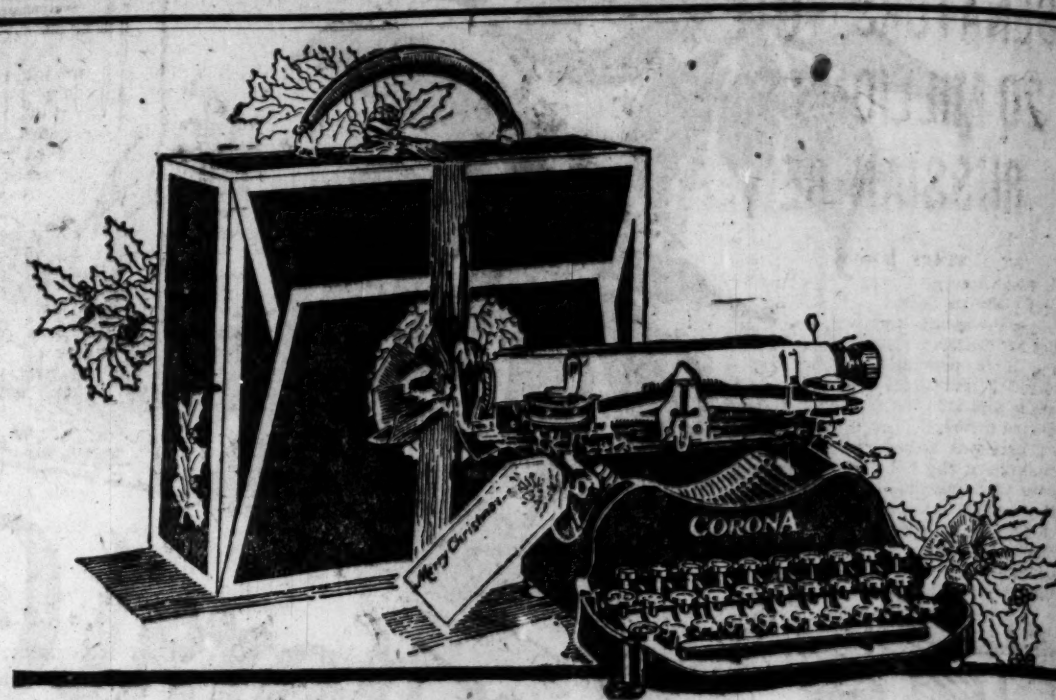

George McAneny, chairman of the transit board, made it plain that while the plan is as yet "unofficial" in that the commission has not approved its details, "it is illustrative of what we propose to do."

It was pointed out that the surface railroad system in Manhattan included past and present lines which have been granted something more than 1,000 franchises, and that because of the frequent reorganizations, receiverships, etc., it is almost impossible to pick out certain lines and say who owns them.

Peoria Traction Workers

Take Wage Cut, Open Shop

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 20.—Officials of the Illinois traction system signed an agreement with their employees to take effect from Dec. 1 and to continue for a year. Two clauses in the contract call for a reduction of 5 cents an hour in the wage scale and the adoption of the open shop policy.

SENATORS VOTE 20 MILLIONS FOR RUSSIAN RELIEF

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—With only a few dissenting votes the senate today passed the $20,000,000 Russian relief bill, after amending it to provide $500,000 for additional hospitalization for disabled veterans and $100,000 for the aid of unemployed in the United States.

There was no record vote on the final passage of the bill. The measure now goes to conference, where the fate of the senate amendments will be decided. There is every prospect that the bill will reach the President before congress recesses Thursday for the Christmas holidays.

The bill authorizes the President to spend $20,000,000 in the purchase of corn, seed grain, and preserved milk for the relief of the distressed and starving people of Russia and for spring planting in areas where the seed grains have been exhausted.

Borah in Bitter Attack

Debate preceding the final action on the bill was enlivened by a bitter attack by Senator Borah of Idaho upon the American government's Russian policy. The senator characterized the policy as "intolerable, indefensible, cruel, and inhuman," and called for the immediate recognition of the soviet government.

Although he disagreed with the governmental theories of soviet leaders, he eulogized Lenin as "one of the two or three great intellects developed during the war."

"The Russian revolution in many respects has been indefensible," said Senator Borah, "but it has resembled practically all the other great revolutions in history. Our policy towards it has been indefensible, brutal, inhuman, cruel, and intolerable."

Then we paid no heed to the dying children in Russia. We cannot escape some of the responsibility for the situation in Russia.

"The United States should recognize the existing Russian government. Whatever we may think about its form, it is the government de facto and as such it should be recognized. The bill should be passed purely as a measure of charity. It won't help the farmers of this country. I don't believe we have a constitutional right to pass it. It sets a bad precedent, but I have not the heart to oppose it. I simply want to voice my protest against the policy of our government towards the Russian government."

President Harding let it be known that he believes the American relief movement in Russia had brought about among the rank and file of Russia a new regard and friendship for the United States savoring of the old time feeling dating back before the civil war.

RAILROAD EXECUTIVE DIES

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 20.—John G. Lore, 61, general agent of the traffic department, C. M. & St. P. railroad, died today after a brief illness. The body will be taken to Wisconsin Rapids, the home of his parents, for burial. He had been with the railroad forty-one years.

ARDMORE FACES RULE OF GUNMEN, GOVERNOR HEARS

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—Charges that every citizen in Ardmore was armed and that all supplies of guns and ammunition had been depleted were made today by representatives from Ardmore here before Gov. J. A. B. Robertson, the number of which has swelled to more than forty persons. The delegation came here in regard to the triple slaying at Wilson and the arrest of sixteen persons held in connection with the case.

Elmer Fulton, assistant attorney general, who recently concluded an investigation into alleged lax law enforcement in Carter county, told the Ardmore men who had assembled in the governor's office that ouster proceedings are to be brought against a number of Carter county officials.

Plan Ouster Proceedings. "A large number of officials—not one or two or three or four, but a large number—will face ouster proceedings just as such as arrangements can be made to get their cases before a fair jury," Mr. Fulton declared. "Nothing short of the removal of Sheriff 'Buck' Garrett and all his deputies will relieve the situation," declared the Rev. Charles C. Wieth, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Ardmore and a member of the committee. "At any time a serious disaster is likely to result from a conflict between the lawless element, which is armed, and the citizens, who are in no mood longer to tolerate them."

Mr. Fulton added that, according to testimony adduced in his recent investigation, "there is no doubt about criminals being protected by the sheriff's force." He said the testimony had been taken in Ardmore, Wilson, and Healdton.

Referring to a suggestion that martial law should be declared in Carter county, Gov. Robertson said that such a course would be undertaken only as a last resort.

Troops are Mobilized.

Ardmore, Okla., Dec. 20.—[Special.]—State troops were mobilized today in readiness to accept a challenge of lawlessness of the old west type in this county. Guard troops of Durant, Ardmore and Wilson were ordered to equip themselves for field duty in the state attorney general's grand jury investigation here shortly.

DEMOCRATS VOTE TO OPERATE ON 35 WARD BASIS

The Democratic managing committee yesterday decided to proceed, immediately after Jan. 1, to make up a county primary slate. Ward organizations were directed to make recommendations to the central body for places on the ticket. It also was decided that the April primaries, so far as the Democrats are concerned, will be conducted on a 35-ward basis, but for the purpose of organization for the June judicial election, and for the 1924 campaign, preparations will

BRITISH REFORM STARTS INDIA ON PATH TO LIBERTY

Natives Gain Unanticipated Power by Vote.

BY THOMAS RYAN.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune.)
BOMBAY, Dec. 20.—The Montagu-Chelmsford reforms in this Indian government are beyond the hopes of ten years ago, but far behind the demands of today. However, many Indians consider them worth trying, the more so as the government vaguely promises further concessions when the people are ready.

The executive council can now include Indian members. Of the upper house 33 members in 60 are elected; of the lower, 190 in 143. These houses, elected by all who pay taxes of 10 rupees ($2.50) a year, will control the acts and finances of government, except in times of emergency. Local governments receive virtual autonomy. Ministers appointed from elected delegates will control education and agriculture. Councilors still wield the power of army and treasury.

Victory for Legislature.
The reforms in practice have worked out to the benefit of the legislature. Provincial governors have discovered that, although technically irresponsible to the people, they cannot gracefully hold office against the will of a hostile house.

As for officialdom, it is horrified. Indian ministers sometimes control English directors, and the government has undertaken to Indianize by degrees the civil service up to 48 per cent. Moreover, bureaucrats are complaining of decentralization. When asked about the business of government, officials will say: "My dear fellow, we don't do it any more."

Both officials and extremists are dissatisfied with the reforms. The former are planning to resign in large numbers. The latter rally around Gandhi, who is striking at the government's source, land revenue, but whom Lord Reading, the viceroy, terms "earnest and sincere."

The country is teeming with unemployed who ask only for work. Who will get these people—Gandhi or the government? One of their leaders in Madras tells me that he will choose any course that promises fair play.

MOVE TOWARD PEACE.
CALCUTTA, Dec. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Much interest has been aroused by the speech of the governor, the Earl of Ronaldshay, at a meeting of the legislative council concerning the suggestion that a representative deputation visit the viceroy with a view to arranging a round table conference dealing with the non-cooperation movement.

After announcing that the viceroy would receive such a deputation on Dec. 31, Gov. Ronaldshay said a truce must be preliminary to any conference, and if the non-cooperationists agreed to a truce he would recommend that the government take action with due regard for the altered situation. If the "hartal" and boycott, arranged to coincide with the arrival of the Prince of Wales here on Christmas eve were called off, he would recommend that the government "stay its hand as far as compatible with public safety."

Kisses and Buffets

MRS. CLARA N. OWENS.

JUDGE JOSEPH SABATH urged a man and wife, contemplating divorce, to "kiss and make up" yesterday.

While they were thinking about it the wife's attorney suggested a more suitable procedure would be for the husband to kiss him, the attorney.

The sarcasm was ill received and a few minutes later in the corridors the attorney, the husband, the wife's brother, and the husband's brother were engaged in a free for all, with the "innocent bystanders" applauding vociferously.

The balliffs won. Claud A. Owens, the husband, won his plea for a jury trial of the divorce action brought by Mrs. Clara Owens, the wife. The attorney, Leslie A. Needham, had previously obtained $500 a month temporary alimony, so they all adjourned.

The wife accuses Owens of post-marital "wild catting." Owens says she tried to horsewhip him. Her brother, William Newman, and his brother, Lawrence Owens, were one pair of fighting gents. And there you are.

CABINET CALLS
NEW ELECTION FOR PORTUGAL
LISBON, Dec. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—A decree was issued today, signed by all the ministers of the Portuguese cabinet, dissolving parliament and fixing Jan. 8 as the date for holding a general election.

The above dispatch is the first news of new political disturbances in Portugal that has come direct from the Portuguese capital. Special dispatches were received late last night, however, from London quoting other advice received from Lisbon by way of Paris to the effect that a new revolution had broken out in Portugal. These dispatches said the revolution began with cannonading along the Tagus river and that severe casualties had resulted to both sides in the controversy.

These dispatches declared the new revolutionary movement was accompanied by considerable bloodshed, but details of the movement are lacking.

British Free American Who Slew English Officer

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
BOMBAY, Dec. 20.—The Rev. L. W. B. Jackman, an American medical missionary, sentenced to two years' imprisonment in March, 1920, for shooting to death Maj. H. D. Choeta, a British officer, at Sadi, Assam, left India in September, 1921, and further than that nothing is known about him. Domestic reasons were responsible for the tragedy. The missionary pleaded the "unwritten law."

Lo, the Rich Indians! Osages Get $1,100 Each

Ponca City, Okla., Dec. 20.—Santa Claus has been mighty good to the Osage Indians. Christmas checks amounting to $1,100 each are being distributed among the 3,229 members of the tribe in a quarterly division of oil royalties from Osage lands. Total amount of payment is $3,551,000. Old timers in Osage country can remember when a payment to the Osages of $68 a quarter was considered a huge sum.

Ethel, Dressed Like James, Weds Louise; Just a Prank

Somerville, Mass., Dec. 20.—Ethel M. Kimball, whose masquerading as a man caused her arrest in Boston last week, told the District court today that her marriage to Louise Margaret Aschler under the name of James T. Hathaway was a "prank" and that Miss Aschler knew that she was a woman. She pleaded guilty to falsifying the record when applying for a marriage license. The hearing was continued.

IMPOSING RITES TO MARK HOBAN ENTHRONEMENT

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The most impressive religious ceremony in the Catholic church in Chicago since the enthronement of Archbishop G. W. Mundelein will attend the consecration today of the Rt. Rev. Mgr. E. F. Hoban as auxiliary bishop of Chicago.

The religious ceremony will occur at 10 o'clock at the Cathedral of the Holy Name, Superior and North State streets. Archbishop Mundelein will be consecrator, assisted by the Rt. Rev. Alexander J. McGavick, bishop-elect of La Crosse, and the Rt. Rev. Thomas E. Molloy, bishop-elect of Brooklyn. Three visiting archbishops, twenty bishops and hundreds of the clergy will be present in the procession and many will take part in the ceremony. The Rt. Rev. Edmund M. Dunne, bishop of Peoria, former pastor of Mgr. Hoban, and his predecessor as chancellor of the Chicago diocese, will deliver the sermon.

The social features of the celebration will be a reception by the clergy at 1:30 p. m. at the Drake hotel, and a reception by the laymen at Orchestra hall at 8 p. m.

At the Orchestra hall meeting Edward F. Carry will preside. Addresses will be made by Michael V. Kennally and John Krystalski. A purse gathered by popular subscription will be presented by Robert M. Switzer.

METHODISTS SEND MOST MEMBERS TO FEDERAL CONGRESS

The following survey of the church relationship of the members of the United States house of representatives and the senate were given out yesterday by the board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church. The report reads:

"Out of a total of 435 members of congress, twenty-four are nonmembers and church affiliation of ninety-eight could not be ascertained. The following are the church affiliations:

"United Brethren, Mormon, Independent, Mennonite, Dutch Reformed, Evangelical, have one member each. There are two Universalists. There are three members of the Quaker church and three of the Jewish church, five Unitarians, ten Disciples, ten Lutherans, eleven Christians, eighteen Catholics, twenty-three Congregationalists, thirty-five Episcopalians, twenty-nine Baptists, fifty-six Presbyterians, and ninety-nine Methodists.

In the senate the survey showed that out of a total of ninety-six senators the church affiliations of twenty-three was unknown and only four were nonmembers. There was one Protestant Episcopal, one Christian, The Lutherans, Dutch Reformed, Unitarians, and Mormons all have two members each. There are six Catholics and six Baptists, seven Congregationalists, eleven Presbyterian, twenty Episcopalians, and seventeen Methodists."

ESKIMO PIE

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

A master hand from Frosty-land,
Now sets the taste of tongue a-tingle;
He brings a sweet—a brand-new brand—
To that fine tune ten pennies jingle.

DE YOUNG WARNS CON CON MUST BE FAIR TO CHICAGO

Downstate Told New Code
Will Fail Otherwise.

Downstate and Chicago went to grips yesterday at the Hamilton club on the question of Cook county's legislative restriction through the proposed new constitution.

Delegate Fred. R. De Young of Harvey argued against Louis A. Jarman of Rushville, one of the downstate delegates of recognized influence in the convention, which is scheduled to resume its session at Springfield Jan. 3.

Holds Compromise Imperative.

Mr. De Young declared there is not the slightest chance that ratification can be obtained for a new constitution that contains ironclad limitation of Cook county's membership in the general assembly. He suggested that compromise might be possible if it were undertaken immediately.

Mr. Jarman, representing what appeared to be an irreconcilable downstate element, insisted that no compromise is in sight and that there should be no agreement that would permit, at any time, a majority in either senate or house, elected from Chicago.

Way to Compromise.

Selection of a conference committee between the city and the downstate by Chairman Woodward, as was suggested by the convention, when it recessed last spring, is believed the only way to reach an agreement on the legislative article.

MRS. RICE LOSES SUIT; HUSBAND GIVEN DIVORCE

Judge George Fred Rush yesterday dismissed the suit of Mrs. Josie Rice, 522 Oakwood boulevard, against her husband, Edward C. Rice, president of the Marquette Lithograph company, for separate maintenance and granted Mr. Rice a divorce.

According to the evidence, Mrs. Rice went to her attorney on April 26, 1919, and swore her husband deserted her the day before. On April 28 she filed a bill for separate maintenance, charging desertion, and also a bill to restrain her husband from entering her home. The evidence showed that he had left his home the morning of April 28. When he returned he was arrested for entering his wife's house.

BUMPER MEXICO CROP ROTS FOR LACK OF CAPITAL

BY J. H. CORNYN.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune.)

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 20.—Mexican crops are the best of years, but there is not money enough to pay for harvesting them, says a member of the allied chambers of commerce.

The currency of the country has never been sufficient since the retirement of paper money.

But since the balance of trade turned so decidedly against Mexico some months ago bills of exchange, drafts, and other paper have become scarce, and gold has become more and more in demand, for foreign debts must be paid on the national credit is low.

Draws on Interior Banks.

The result is that gold is being sent abroad in ever increasing quantities to pay foreign indebtedness and silver is being withdrawn from interior points to supply the needs of the capital and the larger commercial centers of the nation.

Ranchmen, farmers, and planters are being placed every day more and more up against it. There are thousands of peons out of work. Yet there are plenty of jobs, but no money. The banks, which have plenty of money, are standing by because, with a more than probable monetary crisis before them, they dare not extend credit, even with the offer of heavy mortgages on crops ready to be harvested.

If help does not come soon from some unexpected quarter, the condition of Mexico promises to be worse and the cost of living higher next year than now. It is unusually high now. This would be a real calamity in a country which has had a constant tradition of cheap living.

Crowd into Cities.

The middle classes and the laborers find living now difficult, and the difficulty constantly is increasing. This is reflected in the increasing number of the beggars flooding into the capital and the larger centers of population. Never before have there been so many indigent pondeoscripts in Mexico.

The representative of THE TRIBUNE interviewed numbers of them and their stories were almost invariably the same. They had been driven into the capital by the poverty of the interior; and failing to find work here, they had been forced to take to begging to prevent starvation.

For several months the capital has been overrun by European immigrants, largely Hungarians, Austrians, and Russians, driven out of Europe by the beggars flooding into the capital and poverty prevailing there.

GOOD FELLOWS, IN DESPAIR, HUNGRY, THEY CRY TO YOU

Your Agent Finds Much Misery in City.

Men and women filled with the apathy that comes from hunger and despair; children with wasted little faces and big wondering eyes shivering in high-desolate homes—these were the things that the advance agent for the Good Fellows encountered yesterday when he went into the places where the shadows are hanging low this year.

But, Good Fellows, the lead is a little lighter this morning; the advance agent told them you were coming. They smiled when he told them that; the gloom lifted a bit. Old hearts and young hearts beat fast with anticipation. Good Fellows, we must not disappoint them!

These Little Ones Suffer.

Mather street! Magic words, Good Fellows, for they hold the opportunity of your lifetime. Mather street is a short, narrow thoroughfare that nobody in Chicago, except misery's few children who live there, knows about. It runs east from Halsted to Desplaines, where it stops. It starts again at Jefferson and goes one more block, then ends.

There, Good Fellows, is where you'll find the little shavers whose eyes haunt you and tell you so much of the misery that's in their knock-kneed, bow-legged little souls. Good Fellows, life treated 'em pretty rough when it set 'em down there. What if it had set you down there a few years back? Consider that, and see if it don't make you simply want to go down there and show them that there's more than Mather street to the world.

Of course, they're all Italians—just plain little wops—but remember what

Help Good Fellows' Distribution

The Good Fellow bureau needs autos or trucks for the distribution of Christmas baskets next Saturday morning. We have had generous-hearted folks with the spirit of Good Fellows who are not able to do distributing, but have sent us money with which to buy Christmas baskets. If you are able and willing to donate the use of an automobile or a truck to carry baskets to addresses which the bureau will furnish please call the bureau by phone or write in and let us know. Then be present yourself or have your chauffeur present at the Tribune building, Madison and Dearborn streets, at 8:30 Saturday morning. Call Central 0100, Good Fellows, Room 1602.

Lincoln said: "God must have loved that kind; He made so many of them." Mrs. P. of Mather street, was speaking: "Aw, yes-a, Mister, we all need a little help down here. Me, I have a four children—Jesse, 10; Mary, 8; Annie, 6; and Carmella, 2. Mrs. M., here, she have four, too, and she's gonna buy another one soon."

No Color Line for Us. Mather street, Good Fellows, needs just about a score of you, with armfuls of clothing and a lot of baskets of good things.

Jack Dempsey would never make a real Good Fellow, for he draws the color line and the Good Fellows don't. Good Fellows, if there's one of you who feels so inclined, the Advance Agent can tip you off to where there's a little colored family in dire straits; no food, no fire, no clothes, no nothing. It's a widow with four kids—a widow who smiles like a major, when she tells you about it. Perhaps there's a colored Good Fellow who would like to be let in on this.

And, lest we forget, there's the little widow and her 7 year old daughter, Genevieve, in West 26th street—an excellent candidate for the attention of some regular Good Fellow. Mrs. M.'s husband died three years ago. Since then she's been supporting herself and the little girl. Three months ago she became ill and lost her position in a factory.

There's Plenty of Others. Good Fellows, suppose you were earning just enough to exist on, and you lost your job three months—three long months ago? Need any more be said? Friend Good Fellows, there were a good many more of them—too many to tell about—which is just another way of saying that the supply's greater than the demand. There's no trouble in finding the first class makings of a Good Fellow.

READ THESE APPEALS!

Here are some of the letters that came in yesterday:

"Will you kindly save me a Christmas basket, as I am a poor widow, 69 years old and have to depend entirely on myself. I am hungry, as I can hardly make enough to exist. Wishing all a merry Christmas. Please, do not forget me."

"Please ask some kind hearted Good Fellow to send us some assistance in the way of coal or wood. We are a family of father, mother and five children. Father has cataracts and is getting blind. Mother works every day and only gets $10 a week. We do not care for toys or other things but would appreciate it so much if we could have a warm house on Christmas. The children need shoes and warm things to wear."

"Dear Santa: Don't forget to come to my home. My mother is sick and can't work and I have no dady to buy for me. I want a bicycle. I am nine years old and live with my mother and brother. He don't believe in Santa. I hope you will have enough for all. Your friend."

"Dear Santa Claus. Please Santa give us a Christmas basket. We are very poor. My mother scrubs at night and my father has been dead eight years. My brother is 14 and I am 9.

GOOD FELLOWS!

Here's a Form to Fill Out. It Will Aid You in Stating Your Plans for Helping Poor Kids.

If you will be a Good Fellow on Christmas day to some family of poor children in Chicago, please fill out the attached blank and send it to The Tribune, Good Fellow Department.

I live at street.

I will be Santa Claus to children.
(as many as you wish)

Please give me the names of children in (state what section of the city you prefer to have assigned to you.)

Please Santa do not forget us so we will have a Christmas dinner like the others. Please don't forget us. We will be very happy to have a Christmas dinner."

"My father is dead and we are five children. Only my brother, who is 15, is working. The other children are small. Please, dear Santa Claus, try to help us. We need it very badly. We haven't got much to eat and we need shoes, hose, and dresses. I will close with my best wishes to you."

"Dear Santa Claus: Will you be so kind as to help my dear mamma, my three sisters, and me, for we have no money to buy anything. I am a faithful reader of The Tribune when I can get hold of one."

girl. He was nice to me, but my little sister did not see him. Unless you come it will be a very unhappy Christmas for us, for we are not going out anywhere for the day."

"I have left my husband because he mistreated me, did not want to work, and gave me no money. I am working every day to support my five children. The baby is 2½ years old. Please do not forget me."

"Please send us something for Christmas. We are six children, mother, and father. My father has worked but six months in this whole blessed year. I am a faithful reader of The Tribune when I can get hold of one."

"Most years per dollar"

Time after time it has been proved that, in comparative tests between binders, the Tarco Loose Leaf Binder has won out. Won out—in a fair field and no favors; proved that, in severest tests, it is capable of giving more wear than any other.

These are positive facts. They can easily be verified. Just inquire among the concerns which stand for profitable management. They will tell you that Tarco reduces their costs a great deal.

In spite of evident superiority Tarco Binders cost no more than the ordinary kind. Economies are effected in production by the simple method of direct-from-factory sale. Cost saved in marketing goes back into the making; the buyer gets the benefit.

Are You Constipated? Just Try This

Thousands of constipated people have entirely overcome their ailment by following the advice of one who recommended Dilantin. These baronies (the Dilantin is made in Canada) are currently with the famous prescription for this particular ailment.

You must understand that Dilantin gives natural action and is an effective liver regulator and not a purgative. It contains the necessary elements to correct this human ailment and adjust the intestinal tract to a normal and healthy state. With the regular use of Dilantin for a short time in accordance with directions, constipation can eventually be overcome and the use of these or any other laxative may be entirely abandoned. It contains nothing of a habit-forming nature. This is all because Dilantin creates a healthy and active elimination.

If you are troubled with constipation you owe it to yourself to give Dilantin an honest try. It will give you relief from all other alleged remedies. You will feel fresher and better every day.

All drug stores the world over are selling Dilantin at five cents per box. The sole distributor is the Marmola Co., 57 Garfield Bldg., Detroit, Mich. Newspaper and billboard advertisements are already appearing on this product. You should get a box from your drug store early as possible and prove the value of this wonderful remedy for yourself.

FEDERAL JUDGES DENY INJUNCTION ON PACKERS' ACT

Denial of a petition for a permanent injunction, restraining District Attorney Clynne and Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, from enforcing the provisions of the packers' act, which went into effect on Nov. 1, was handed down yesterday by Federal Judges Landis, Evans, and Fitzhugh, sitting en banc.

The new law, passed by congress Aug. 15, curtails the efforts of live stock commission men and places the stockyards and all activities therein under the control of the secretary of agriculture. A temporary injunction was granted by Judge Landis Nov. 1, when the petitioners alleged the act was unconstitutional because it sought to control intrastate business.

HENRY C. WALLACE.
Secy. of Agriculture.
(Copyright: Modest.)

Will Appeal Case.
Announcement was made last night by Kay Wood, chairman of the legislative committee of the National Live Stock exchange, and David Mosler, vice president of the Chicago Live Stock exchange, that the case will be taken to the Supreme court by Attorney Levi Mayer and Elwood Godman.

In giving its decision the court quoted the Supreme court in the case of Swift against the United States.

"When cattle are sent for sale from a place in one state with the expectation that they will end their transit, after purchase, in another, and when in effect they do so, with only the interruption necessary to find a purchaser at the stockyards, and when this is a typical recurring course, the current thus existing is a current of commerce among states, and the purchase of cattle is a part and incident of such commerce," the excerpt reads.

Declared Blow at Producer.
Charges that the producer of live stock and his product will be at the mercy of the packers if the act is not curtailed were made in a statement issued by the Chicago Live Stock exchange following the court's decision. Enforcement of the law will destroy the competitive system now in vogue and leave the producers of cattle entirely at the mercy of the expert buyers in the employ of the packers, the statement says.

"The act will eliminate the entire principle upon which American business is founded," reads the statement, "namely, that of competition, upon which lawmakers have spent endless time and upon which the government has spent large sums of money in the attempt to break down trusts and combinations."

At Mercy of Packers.
"All of these will be swept away, and the startling fact will remain that the farm bureau, backed by the department of agriculture, will have substituted one cooperative commission company, which will have 138 officers and directors whose sole productive function will be to 'boss the job,' and the employees and salesmen of which will have no other interest than to draw as much salary as possible. Their ability and merit will surely not be rewarded on a competitive basis. This, therefore, will become a 'selling monopoly.' But the great fact is that it will put the producer and his product at the mercy of the packer."

"Enthusiastic supporters of the act declare that it is their intention to eliminate the 'middleman' and thereby reduce the cost of marketing live stock and put the finished product into the hands of the consumer at a lower cost to him and, at the same time, increase the profits of the producer.

"As a matter of fact, live stock commission merchants are not 'middlemen,' nor do their functions represent in any respect those of a 'middleman,' but the question is anyway one of cost."

"Statistics show that upon the gross value of stock handled by a representative commission firm the net profits of the commission man have amounted in the year 1920 to .0088 per cent, or to 8 mill per dollar; that the charges of the live stock commission merchant, as commissions, without deducting the cost of operation or losses, range from 1/2 per cent to 1 per cent of the gross value of the product handled. In other words, the elimination of a commission man would result at a maximum in a saving of less than 1 per cent of the gross value handled."

Hold Benefits Unappreciated.
"It is true that the patrons of live stock markets, producers and shippers, have not and do not now appreciate the great benefit which the exchanges not only have been but might be to them. Live stock exchanges have been so efficient in settling disputes arising upon the market that a lawsuit is unheard of."

"Any shipper who makes a complaint against a member of an exchange can have a hearing from a jury prejudiced in the shipper's favor, and that jury will see that their competitor plays fair not only with the producer and shipper but with themselves.

"It seems to live stock commission merchants unwise to attempt to substitute for the exchange system untried methods which will be most expensive to the taxpayer and producer. It happens that by actual experience during the great war, when this business was under government supervision, it was demonstrated that government control is inadequate and incompetent to handle the delicate problems which are incident to the industry."

More Effective Than Government.
"Specific incidents can be produced by the exchanges where, even during the war, the discipline of the exchanges was more effective and adequate in correcting abuses than was the power of the government."

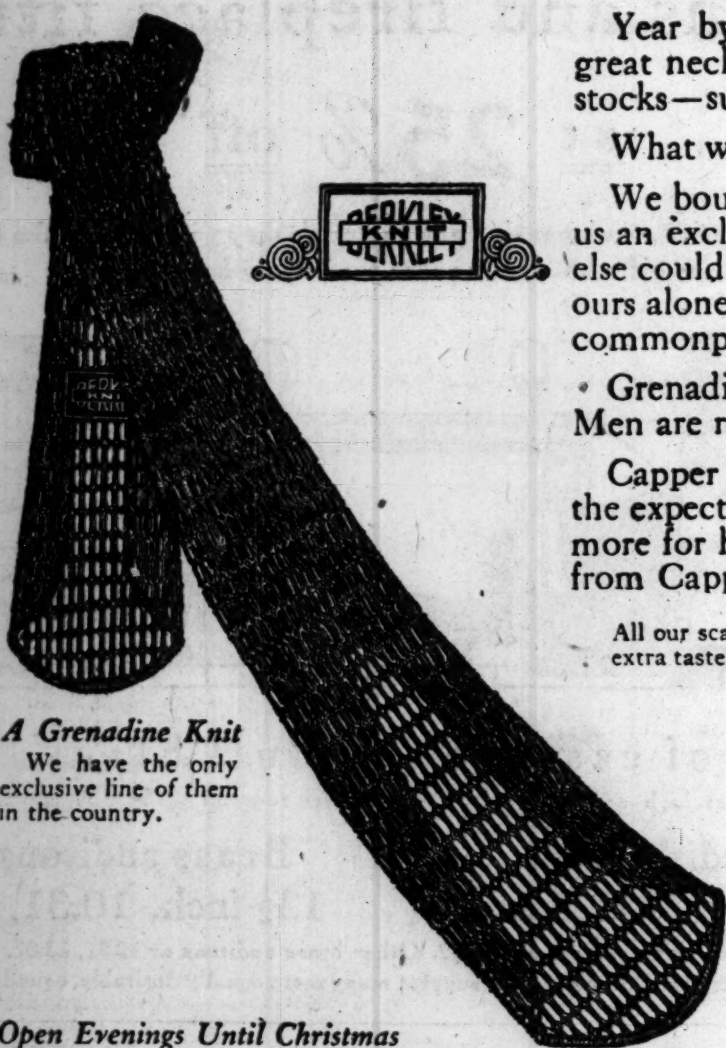

"There exist also numerous instances of ill advised state regulations, notably in the case of Minnesota, which burden the industry with excessive and unnecessary costs, thereby subjecting shippers to burdensome expense and losses."

The statement adds that all officers, directors, and committeemen on the exchanges serve without salary and are, therefore, without expense to the shipper and producer.

CHRISTMAS NECKWEAR

at the Neckwear House of America

A Grenadine Knit
We have the only exclusive line of them in the country.

Year by year we've become better and better known as the great neckwear house of America. But we've never had such stocks—such a variety, such an abundance, as this season.

What we are doing in Grenadine Knits is typical.

We bought so many Berkley Knit Grenadines that they gave us an exclusive line of them—wove patterns for us that no one else could get. And we were the only ones they did this for. So ours alone cannot be duplicated promiscuously, cannot become commonplace.

Grenadines are in high demand and stocks are generally low. Men are reveling in our abundance of what they want.

Capper & Capper neckwear, always acceptable, this year is the expected gift. No friend or kinsman would want you to do more for him than to present him with a well-chosen selection from Capper neckties.

All our scarves are packed as only Capper & Capper take pains to pack them—with extra taste, extra care, extra thoughtfulness; a further contribution to the gift itself

THE CHILDREN AND GEORGE WASHINGTON

More Entries in the Race for $11,650 in The Tribune's Prizes for School Children and Teachers.

There are more of the essays by boys and girls entered in the George Washington prize contest being conducted by The Tribune. The contest closes on Washington's birthday Feb. 22.

Nation's Great Character.

Nearly every nation, whether large or small, has some great character who stands far ahead of any other in that country.

In the United States children will read or hear about George Washington from the primary grade up through the higher classes. No doubt every child knows the incident of Washington cutting down his father's best cherry tree.

When Washington was about 16 years old he pursued the profession of a surveyor, through which he became acquainted with many parts of the country. He later became adjutant general of the American army. It was one of Washington's peculiarities that he carried out small matters with the same organization as he did the large matters. He shrewdly over nothing.

Washington was one of the many patriots who did not want the king of England to rule the colonies. War between England and the colonies followed, in which Washington took an active part as commander in chief of the army.

Washington was appointed one of the delegates from Virginia to the first general congress in 1774. After the war he proposed the convention of 1787, of which he was a member and which founded the present federal constitution. Under this constitution he was chosen first President of the United States.

Washington had a mind which was great and powerful and of very sound judgment. He was incapable of fear, meeting personal danger with the calmest unconcern.

The capital of the United States and one state are named in honor of Washington. Every state commemorates his name and honors his memory.

AGNES HENRIKSEN, Friendship, Wis.

Age 17, Junior High School, Teacher, Mrs. Hingham.

Prince of Men.

Out of history's dim and obscure past there emerges a figure—an heroic figure—on whose stern visage is wrought the essence of manhood—honor. Yes, it is truly said that many a hero shall be named in history, but no small issue forth a living ideal for posterity, worthy to bear aloft the unquelled banner of a glorious republic.

But one, and the country turns to Washington, whose noble memory sends this clarion call down the ages: "Citizens! Whatever I have striven to establish, whatsoever the dauntless Patriots of Lexington died to confirm these things be the tallman of a freedom-loving people! And his in-vincible devotion to duty and honor carries Columbia safe through the storm of perversities.

Verily, Washington is the prince of men. Mightier than the Caesars, his soul goes marching on; and with deep fervor and reverence, there rises from valley, hill and plain the anthems of a nation he led to victory—a land he loved. Again the spirit of '76 stirs each patriot to protect the birthright of generations; and, guided by the principles of Washington, America leads the way to concord of nations—to a new hope and trust in humankind.

EUNICE THOMPSON, Riverside, Ill.

Age 17, Senior High School, Teacher, Miss Tyler.

THE RULES

The rules governing the contest are as follows:

1. Essays must be on George Washington and must be 250 words or less.
2. Handwriting will not count. Neatness, grammar, spelling, and punctuation will count.

Everything but the Squeal

YOU have frequently heard it stated that the modern packing plant utilized and sold every part of the pigs it slaughtered but "the squeal." That is merely a popular way of saying the large packers run their business at nearly 100 per cent efficiency.

This remarkable efficiency and the constant and universal demand for its products places the packing business among the most stable industries in the world.

Its interests extend to every quarter of the globe. From the mountains of Switzerland to the plains of South Africa, the products of the great American packing houses are on sale. The business is so extensive both geographically and in variety of output that the ordinary fluctuations of trade affect it little. For these reasons the properly safeguarded bonds and notes of these companies are eagerly sought for by careful investors.

Bonds for Safe Investment—In common with all business institutions, the Harris Trust & Savings Bank is harmed directly or indirectly by unwise speculation and "wildcat" promotions. In a series of advertisements of which this is the Fourth, we are trying to picture to the public, out of an experience of 39 years, what we have found to be safe investments.

I. C. C. TO LIMIT JOBS OF THREE R. R. DIRECTORS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 20.—William Rockefeller, Harold S. Vanderbilt, and George F. Baker, will have to give up by Dec. 31, certain places they now hold on boards of directors of railroad corporations under a ruling today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

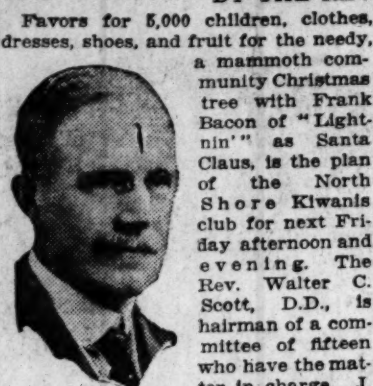

Mr. Rockefeller, the commission said, in passing upon his application to retain a number of the places, may be an officer of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, but must drop out of either the New York Central board or the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road.

Mr. Vanderbilt may hold positions as officer of two western railroads, the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha, and the Chicago and North-western, but must retire either from the New York Central or the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and Mr. Baker must choose, the commission said, with which of three competing railroad systems he desires to remain associated. He cannot retain his place as director of the Erie, of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and of the Lehigh Valley railroads.

BANK OF KINDNESS

Draw a Check on It for the Unfortunate.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

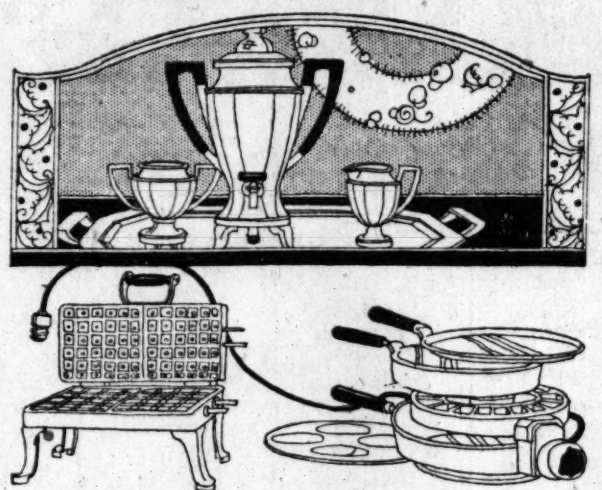

THE REV. DR. WALTER C. SCOTT, (Gibson, Spies & Fowler Photo.)

Favors for 5,000 children, clothes, dresses, shoes, and fruit for the needy, a mammoth community Christmas tree with Frank Bacon of "Light-nin" as Santa Claus, is the plan of the North Shore Kiwanis club for next Friday afternoon and evening. The Rev. Walter C. Scott, D.D., is chairman of a committee of fifteen who have the matter in charge. J. F. Cornelius is president of the club. The tree, forty feet high, with electric decorations, will be at the Broadway armory, Broadway and Thorndale avenue. Dr. Scott can be reached at the armory by calling Sunnyside 1401, where he is receiving provisions and checks. A tailor for the repair of clothes, a dressmaker for dresses, and a shoemaker to repair shoes will be at the armory. Boy Scouts will repair toys. Among checks received is one for $600. Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus will parade the streets and be heralded by music. A Christmas program will be staged afternoon and evening.

The fund received by THE TRIBUNE for the assistance of Clifton Howard and wife was increased by $110. Mrs. Howard is the girl mother who was wounded by a revolver shot from her husband, who was out of work. Following are the receipts:

'Something To Do' A Christmas Novelty for Children

So often the children ask, "Mother, what shall I do?" To help the parents solve this question as well as to assist them in finding a practical gift for son or daughter, we have secured a novelty, entitled—

Thrift Bank Book

This book, beautifully boxed, measures 8x11 inches, heavy board cover in colors, illustrated pages with appropriate verses, depressed spaces for coins, which are to be covered with square picture stamps, as the spaces are filled; when the pages are completed the child has a pretty colored picture on each page, the result of his efforts.

Come in and let us show you this attractive gift for children. They get their fun right now while making puzzle pictures. A new account opened in the name of a child, for five or more dollars, entitles you to a "Thrift Bank Book" free.

Out Again, In Again; Police Chief Reinstated

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 20.—Roscoe Saunders today was reinstated as chief of police of Des Moines by the city council after having been ousted by that body yesterday. The change was brought about at a special meeting of the council today, when it was decided to take the police department supervision powers away from Public Safety Director John Budd. Under the new arrangement, it was announced, Saunders will be given complete authority to run the department as he sees fit.

Also be sure to serve Atmore's Philadelphia Plum Pudding—"ready to heat and eat." Comes in individual tins for one or two persons and Family tin.

Buy Atmore's Mince Meat the economical way—20 lb. pails—and always be prepared for dessert.

CHRISTMAS and Mince Pie! They're almost as inseparable as Santa Claus and his Christmas gifts! For a thick, savory Atmore Mince Pie with its fragrant aroma expresses the Christmas spirit better than any other dessert.

It may be hard to provide the best of gifts this year, but it's easy to make the best of pies. Just prepare the crust and fill with Atmore's Mince Meat—with all the "old-time flavor" and "ready for the pie"—a wonderfully choice blend of fruits, beef, suet, spices, and whole, seedless raisins that swell in baking and make the pie rich and "plummy."

Atmore's "Extra Family" Mince Meat is a particularly choice blend. Both come in bulk, and in small pails and jars. Atmore's "Celebrated" costs a trifle less.

FREE TEXTBOOKS HELD IMPOSSIBLE FOR NEXT TERM

Certain technicalities not complied with by the superintendent of schools make it impossible to select free textbooks for the next term.

PETER A. MORTENSON, superintendent of schools, submitted to President E. S. Davis, the opinion that, inasmuch as the books were not filed in Springfield in accordance with the law, which provides that books cannot be sold for less in one state than in another, the contracts cannot be let.

Mr. Bither pointed out that the books had not been filed with the state superintendent of public instruction, which is necessary under the Dailey law. He recommended that the board declare its entire action in adopting text books at the last meeting null and void, and allow some court of law to determine its validity.

A telegram from F. G. Blair, superintendent of public instruction at Springfield, yesterday said that the board had been filed in the morning. Mr. Mortenson, who had not yet seen Mr. Bither's opinion, said he believed the matter was one of "pure technicality," and would be straightened out at the board's next meeting. He expressed the opinion that opposition to the selection of books had come from "outside."

HEARING ENDS IN SCIENTISTS' INJUNCTION ROW

Boston, Mass., Dec. 20.—At the conclusion of arguments today, Judge Crosby of the Supreme court, took under advisement the petition of Herbert W. Eustace and Paul Harvey, trustees of the Christian Science Publishing society, for an injunction to restrain the directors of the First Church of Christ, Scientist (Mother Church), from removing them.

Sherman I. Whipple, counsel for the trustees, argued that the directors had no power to remove the trustees because the latter had tendered their resignation to the court and had asked the court to appoint their successors. For the directors, former Gov. John L. Bates contended that the trustees were indifferent to the best interests of the church and were withholding their resignation until they could "get a whitewash" of their acts as trustees. He charged that it was the purpose of the trustees to start a fresh litigation that might be prolonged for years.

Mr. Bates challenged the trustees to resign in open court, saying their resignations would be accepted.

The Night Before Christmas

*'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house,
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse,
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of Santa Claus danced in their heads.*

*When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I threw up the window to see what was the matter.
Kris Kringle was there, and his eight antlered dandies Bore a bountiful sleigh-load of fine De Met's Candies,*

*As I drew in my head and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound;
A bundle of toys he had hung on his back,
And Candies galore he had heaped in his pack.*

*The way he performed, you could tell he was handy,
And he showed he was wise, for he brought De Met's Candy.
His conscience was clear, he knew he'd done right,
When he left De Met's Candies for kiddies that night.*

*At the door of the house we all gave three cheers
For De Met's, St. Nick, and his eight fine Reindeers.
Then we heard St. Nick cry, as he drove out of sight,
"Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good night!"*

De Met's are the Holiday Candies

May the sunshine of Christmas happiness beam on the head of every bonny boy and girl who knows the poem that inspired the one above. Let their innocent hearts thrill with joy when they find De Met's Candies in their bulgy Christmas stockings.

De Met's Candies make jolly good gifts for grown-ups as well. In fact, they solve the gift problem completely. Deliciousness, good taste and utmost value are the compelling reasons which make De Met's so popular the year around.

RAIL CHIEF ASKS UNIONS TO QUIT HURLING CHARGES

I. C. Men Urged to Call Off Their Leaders.

Charles H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railway, in a letter which will be posted today, has personally appealed to employees of the road to challenge alleged ungrounded charges of their union leaders resting on all railroads.

"For a long time," reads an excerpt from the letter, "men who claim to represent you and your sentiments have been engaged in a campaign of abuse and vilification to discredit the management of the railroads, including the Illinois Central system."

"You will surely agree with me that the accusations made by these men whose activities your money makes possible are wholly inconsistent with the facts."

Illegal Profits Charged.

The letter cites charges made before the interstate commerce committee of the United States senate by Frank J. Warne, representing train service employees. Illegitimate profits through contracts made at excessive prices with supply companies in which railway officials were interested, granting of rebates and other illegal concessions, free transportation to favored shippers, and false claims for loss and damage to freight were involved in Mr. Warne's charges.

Mr. Markham also refers to charges made by W. Jett Lauck, statistician for the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor and Glenn E. Plumb, author of the "Plumb Plan" of government control of railroads.

Disappointed at Attitude.

"I cannot believe," reads the letter, "these men, calling themselves your representatives, reflect the true sentiment of the men of the Illinois Central system."

But, frankly, I have been disappointed that these men have been permitted to pour out unchecked torrents of false accusations without even a word of public protest from the men whom they claim to represent."

The men are urged to investigate and report any such irregularities as those charged against all roads.

Hearings before the United States railroad labor board on the rights of railway companies to "farm out" work to contractors but under jurisdiction of the board probably will be completed today.

Nine roads are involved. The cases of the Indiana Harbor Belt Line, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Chicago and North Western and the Great Northern have been heard. Some briefs are still to be filed. The complaint against the Erie probably will be taken up today.

Defers Pennsylvania Case.

Hearing on the temporary injunction against the Pennsylvania case, scheduled for today, was postponed until Jan. 3. The temporary injunction restrains the board from issuing a decision in connection with the Pennsylvania case's failure to comply with a board order to hold an election of shop crafts employees on a ballot prescribed by the federal arbitration body. The open shop issue is involved.

FATE OF CHURCH MAY BE DECIDED BEFORE MIDNIGHT

Harvey W. Church, accused of the murders of Bernard J. Dougherty and Carl Aumans, may know his fate before midnight tonight. Assistant State's Attorney William Scott Stewart, who with Edgar A. Jones is prosecuting Church, commenced his opening statement late yesterday. He asked for a verdict of guilty and the death penalty.

Fund to Enforce Landis Award Tops Million Mark

James A. Patten, chairman of the finance committee of the citizens' committee for the enforcement of the Landis award, announced last night that the fund which is being raised to make the award effective, has passed the $1,000,000 mark. "The money has been coming in steadily," said Mr. Patten, "although as yet there has been no widespread effort at solicitation. We passed the $500,000 mark well over a week ago and decided to say nothing until after we had won our first million. A large percentage of the subscriptions have been for comparatively small amounts."

Husband and Wife Found Dead of Gas in Oak Park

Harry J. Pacl and Mrs. Elsie Pacl were found asphyxiated by gas in their home at 821 Wendenham avenue, Oak Park, yesterday. The body of Mrs. Pacl was lying in the kitchen near open gas jets. Dr. J. J. Patera, answering a call at the home, discovered the pair. He had been treating Pacl for convulsions, he said. The dead man, a salesman for a moving extract concern, had been unable to work for some time. Whether the gas was a suicide pact or the act of the husband alone will be determined at the inquest today.

Mr. Thomas and Others at the Apollo

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

BEGUILING example of sheer artistry in entertainment is that contributed by John Charles Thomas at the Apollo. With no advantage of costume or setting, and with no background at all save a somewhat battered grand piano, he addressed himself to his captivated hearers completely.

Vaudeville audiences usually get much more of fuss and feathers with much smaller results in the matter of enjoyment. Thomas used to be the most assured of our singers, but he is a changed man now. There is a twinkle in his eye, and he has a jolly air of taking you into his confidence, imparting the intimacies of the little songs that make up the lighter concert programs as offerings are pleasantly varied in mood; some are pensive and some rollicking, but in all his reverent high baritone and his keen dramatic sense are given full play.

Incidentally he has a capital accompanist—one William J. Jansauhek.

Others at the Apollo are: Joviedah de Rajah—With the Princess Olga, telling you whether your husband loves you and performing other prodigies of occultism.

Sah-Hearn—In one of those "rube" monologues, varied with diverting exercises on the violin.

Rigoletto Brothers—Suave young men who do a little of everything you ever saw done in vaudeville. With them are the Swanson sisters, picturesque damsels who sing.

Dolly Connolly—In songs by Percy Wenrich. Percy presides at the piano.

Clark and Verdi—Veteran impersonators of the comic Italian, in amusing sidewalk conversation.

"THE HINDU" APPROACHES.

Walker Whiteside, a good actor of varying fortunes, has been hovering about this metropolis with an eye out for an available theater. He found it yesterday, and will come to town on Jan. 8, following "The Skin Game" at the Central and bringing something new by Gordon Keas called "The Hindu." The piece, which was first known as "The Moon God," is described as a mystery melodrama, with thrills and the sinister atmosphere of modern India. Ian MacLaren, Miss Sydney Shields, and various others are in it.

OTTO YOUNG'S DAUGHTERS LOSE IN COURT FIGHT

Judge Rymer yesterday approved the proposed sale of half a block of property in Michigan avenue between 7th and 8th streets by the estate of the late Otto Young for $2,500,000. It is said a $200,000 hotel is to be built on the site.

The court also ruled that this money, together with another $2,500,000 of accumulated funds in the $500,000 estate, should be turned in to the principal of the estate and should not be divided between the four daughters of the deceased. Fourteen grandchildren will eventually receive the entire fortune.

The litigation arose on the complaint of Mrs. Selma Cecile Young Heyworth von Korwin of New York, former wife of Baron Joseph von Korwin, a Polish nobleman; Mrs. Marie Julia Kaufman, wife of Louis G. Kaufman, Short Hills, N. J.; Mrs. Catherine Osborn Hobart Wickes, wife of Walter Wickes of Brooklandville, Md.; and Mrs. Laura Elizabeth Martin, wife of Samuel K. Martin of New York. They contend the surplus fund should be given them and not be held for their children. The court ruled against them.

In the obituary notice in THE TRIBUNE yesterday morning it was stated that Lieut. Edgar Alfred Lawrence of the 147th Air squadron died of wounds received at Chateau Thierry. Lieut. Lawrence was killed in action on June 4, 1918, in the Meuse-Chatteau. He will be buried from the Church of the Covenant today at 2 o'clock.

MOTHER PLEADS FOR SON WHO KILLED FATHER

Faints in Court After Appeal to Jury.

Spectators in Judge Fitch's court were given a thrill yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Mary Ulrich made an impassioned plea from the witness stand for the life of her son, Frank Ulrich Jr., who shot and killed his father last October. Mrs. Ulrich fell unconscious after her dramatic plea.

On Oct. 21 Frank Ulrich, the father, went to his home at 722 West Grand avenue intoxicated, according to the evidence. He started a quarrel with his wife and commenced to beat her. His son, Frank, who is 19 years old, interrupted and in the tussle that followed shot his father.

Makes Plea to Jury.

Mrs. Ulrich took the stand yesterday afternoon. She told the story of the tragedy with precision.

"That's all," said her son's attorney. Mrs. Ulrich rose from her chair and turned to the jury.

"You are going to hold the fate of my son in your hands before many hours," she said. "He killed my husband, his father, it is true. But he did a good deed. My husband was a cruel drunkard. He beat me many times. There was hardly a day when I had no black and blue marks."

Says It Was "Only Way."

"He beat me terribly. Then one night he came home drunk. He started to hit me. My son tried to stop him. He was the only way he could stop the beating."

"My son is a good boy. He has never been in any trouble. He protected his mother. He gave a bad man his just reward. Say my son is not guilty. He is such a good boy."

Mrs. Ulrich fainted. She was carried to the judge's chambers and revived.

The case will go to the jury today.

REFERENDUM ON BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING PLAN

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday advanced the plans for a new Board of Trade building at Jackson boulevard and La Salle street by moving to amend the rules of their organization so that members can vote on the question of whether the building shall be erected.

Estimates prepared for the directors provide for a structure to cost $6,000,000, which, with land and equipment, would mean an investment of $10,000,000 to $11,000,000.

Woman and Two Men Admit 150 Auto Thefts

William (Spot) Kelly, 409 South Wood street; Burton Payne, 3240 West Congress street; and Blanche Parker, 29, living at the King Edward hotel, were arrested last night when they tried to sell a stolen automobile to a saloonkeeper. They are said to have confessed stealing 150 automobiles recently. The men said the woman was used merely to allay the suspicions of motorcycle policemen.

THAT GUILTIEST FEELING

(Copyright: New York Tribune, Inc.)

HER PHANTOM LOVER

by ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

Doria Westhaven kills her husband's cousin, Andrew Mandell, who she had loved. Andrew is the legal Lord Westhaven, the son of Mandell, who she had killed.

"All right, a workman, enemy of Andrew, tries to kill the latter. The ship blast is buried down. Doria is in a public house when Andrew returns. Doria collapses in a fit. Ronald tells how Andrew's death is caused by Doria. Doria goes to Mrs. Crouch's shop and steals the papers identifying the slain Mandell as "Crouch." Ronald finds them in her room. He and Drake learn Andrew's identity and call Doria for an accounting.

INSTALLMENT LXXV.

MRS. CROUCH TOLD OF NEW SOCIAL STATUS.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon of that same day Mrs. Crouch might have been seen coming out of the Westhaven offices and making her way back along the High street to her own little home. She walked a trifle unsteadily. Once or twice she stumbled, as one whose mind is far away. Clothed in her best black silk, dressed modestly, she was wearing a little round hat wreathed with pansies, and a reticule clasped tightly in her gloved hands, her appearance was a credit to the modest neighborhood.

When word came that Mr. Drake wished to see her, she had no time to change. Leaving Letty in charge of the shop, and saluted Letty immediately after her midday meal. That was three hours ago, and all this time she had been sitting in Drake's office listening to the amazing story of Mr. and Mrs. Barry had to tell her.

She was the Hon. Mrs. Andrew Mandell, a widow of long standing, and her son was Lord Westhaven. She was immensely wealthy, or at least Andrew was.

People spoke to her as she passed and she returned their salutations absent-mindedly, which was not at all like Mrs. Crouch.

Halted jovially by Mrs. Price—whose doorstep was her sitting room—she merely said good afternoon and walked on.

Tom Gilly, Letty's most patient admirer, was in the shop lengthening a purchase of pipe tobacco when Mrs. Crouch entered. He grinned, picked up his change and departed. Letty began to dust the counter and set things straight.

Supper was served and Mrs. Crouch, without speaking, took up a big advertising card, turned it over, and in large black capitals wrote the word "Closed" on the back.

Then she went to the door and locked it, hanging the card in the glass panel so that those of the public who were interested could see.

Letty stared at her in blank surprise. It was Saturday afternoon, just the time of all the week when trade was at its best. What could have happened?

"Come into the kitchen, Letty," Mrs. Crouch said, speaking at last. "Put on the kettle like a good girl, while I change my dress. There's something I've got to say to you when I come down."

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.
Are you in favor of building a subway now?

Where Asked.
In the heart of Albany Park.

The Answers.

L. J. McCallister, 3411 Lawrence avenue, says: "As a merchant, I think the subway is bad for the outlying business man. The quicker he can get down town the more likely he is to shop there. Outlying stores should have an even break with those in the loop."

Robert F. Crowley, 3424 Lawrence avenue, says: "I think Chicago should have a subway, and it should be started as soon as possible. However, we do not want a subway to the loop. The future of Chicago lies in development of outlying sections, such as Wilson avenue, Logan Square, the 63d street district, and Albany Park."

George J. McCabe, 3434 Lawrence avenue, says: "The subway we all dream of is a grand idea, but too likely to become a political football. The immediate and cheapest cure for transportation evils is universal transfer from surface to elevated cars."

P. L. Drew, 3350 Lawrence avenue, says: "We need a subway badly. A non-transfer system, like the 'L's,' taking passengers from north to south directly, would be the type I would favor. It would not injure outlying business. The proposed subway is to get people who have business in the loop to their work and back home."

Harry R. Schiau, 3224 Lawrence avenue, says: "Our geographical layout would make a subway almost impossible. More cross-town surface lines would solve our problem. If our present system were operated more efficiently conditions would be improved."

COMMEND THREE POLICEMEN.
Policemen Thomas Dennis, John R. Hogan and Christopher Covington of the Stanton avenue station, were commended by a coroner's jury yesterday for killing John Dawson, who was attempting a holdup. Dennis and Hogan were wounded in the fight.

ETTELSON ASKS $696,680 TO RUN LAW DEPARTMENT

1922 Budget Provides 37 New "Plums."

Corporation Counsel Ettelson asked the council finance committee yesterday for permission to spend $696,680 for lawyers' salaries and other expenses of operating the city's law department in 1922.

None of the employees of the corporation counsel's office are selected through civil service. The law department is considered the biggest basket of job plums in the city hall orchard. All of the present 147 employees of the office were given the O. K. of the Lundin-Thompson organization before they were placed on the payroll.

Means $200,000 Increase.

Mr. Ettelson's request, if granted, would mean that the cost of tending to the city's legal business in 1922 will be $200,000 greater than this year. The corporation counsel's budget does not include any estimates for the expenditures for public utilities litigation. This year the aldermen appropriated $200,000 for that purpose. It is expected that a separate request for that purpose will be received by the budget makers in the near future.

Mr. Ettelson asks for within $2,719 as much as was spent this year for both public utility litigation and the three branches of the law department. The total 1921 appropriation was $693,390.

Adds 37 More Plums.

If the aldermen O. K. the corporation counsel's request the number of jobs in the law department will be increased from 147 to 184. Additional salary due to increases in the number of employees and pay increases for those now employed would total $124,390 if Mr. Ettelson's recommendations are followed.

It is probable that the law department estimates will be revised downward. Chairman Richter appointed a subcommittee, composed entirely of lawyers, to consider the estimates. Ald. Koefner, Schwartz, Guernsey, L. B. Anderson, Lytle, and Steffen compose the committee.

SUES J. S. WYNNE FOR $50,000 FOR BREACH PROMISE

Suit for $50,000 for breach of promise against Jack Shriver Wynne, son of Robert J. Wynne, postmaster general under Roosevelt and former American consul general in London, was filed yesterday in the Superior court by Miss Florence McCannay, 137 North Sheridan road, Waukegan.

He is a Harvard graduate, member of clubs here and in Washington. She is a stenographer.

Numerous love letters are to be introduced by Miss McCannay's attorney. "I will go to the end of the world to make him pay for the unhappiness and misery he has caused me—I'll make him atone if it demands me the life and everything of life," she said yesterday. The letters were written last June. In them he characterizes her as "dearest girl," "Sweetheart," and other endearing terms.

GUARD AND FIVE MORE INDICTED IN O'CONNOR FLIGHT

True bills charging David Strauss, a county jail guard; two fugitives who broke jail with Tommy O'Connor, and three prisoners, with conspiracy to liberate a prisoner under sentence of death, were voted yesterday by the Cook county grand jury. They will be returned today.

Under an Illinois statute the punishment for conspiracy to aid in the escape of a prisoner who is under a death sentence is imprisonment from one to fourteen years in the state penitentiary.

The true bills were directed against David Strauss, guard, alleged to have "fixed the escape" and to have smuggled a gun to O'Connor; Edward Barrow, alias "James Ryan," who fled with O'Connor; James La Porte, who also fled with O'Connor; Clarence Sponagel, prisoner, who broke his ankles in attempt to escape; Frank Phillips and John Graffe, prisoners, alleged to have "overpowered" Strauss when he allowed them to go to the jail hospital.

SAFE BLOWN, MAN IS HELD UP, NEAR POLICE STATIONS

Safelowers entered the office of the Black-Kelly company, wholesale grocers, at 8426 Lake Park avenue, a block from the Hyde Park police station, early yesterday morning, seized and bound the janitor, George Borbon, 6537 Harper avenue, as he came to work, then started to work on the safe.

An hour later they had it open. After counting the $500 it contained they untied Borbon, started him down the street, threatened to kill him if he turned back or made an outcry, then climbed into an automobile and drove away.

Three Negro holdup men held up P. Abraham, grocer, in his store at 425 East 35th street, directly opposite the Stanton avenue station, and escaped with $41.

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are:

At New York—Ray Kester beat Mike Burke (12); Bushy Hutchinson beat Johnny Wil. (12); Johnny Hart knocked out Bob. by Graham (10).
At Boston—Eddie Shervin beat Paul Doyle (10).
At Philadelphia—Benny Leonard beat Tim Droney (8); Tony Capoti beat Gus Franchetti (8).
At St. Louis—Harvey Bright beat Harry Kachoff (12).
At Buffalo—Frankie Schell knocked out Nate Lewis (7).
At Tulsa—Ward Smith knocked out Sallor Anderson (3).

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

New York, Dec. 20.—[Special.]—"I'll fight Jack Dempsey or any other man in the world, black or white, and stand ready to go to any part of the globe to fight for the championship," said Harry Wills, the big colored heavyweight in answer to a query this afternoon as to whether he would meet Dempsey. Wills, who recently returned from the west, was putting in some training at Billy Grupp's gymnasium.

"Sure, I would be glad of a chance to fight Dempsey for the title," said Wills, who then told in a modest way why he had refrained from challenging the white champion.

Ready on Public's Call.
"I never challenged Dempsey fearing that the prejudice against mixed bouts which followed the actions of Jack Johnson, when he defeated Jeffries for the championship, was too severe to permit me to issue any challenge to Jack without being misunderstood."

"I concluded I would go along quietly until such time as the public might demand a battle between Dempsey or whoever else might be champion, and myself."

"Personally, I think the prejudice against mixed bouts is wearing out all over the country, and that soon the sporting public will be clamoring to have Dempsey and myself go to it. In Portland, Ore., recently they told me a syndicate was forming for the purpose of staging such a battle. I find in my travels that the racial prejudice is being reduced, even in the south."

Doesn't Fear Champion.

"I don't fear Dempsey or any other man. I am not making any claims, but I do not think Dempsey can beat me. Remember I am not saying I can beat Jack, but if he should beat me, he would know he had been in a battle."

"I have always led a clean life. I would like to win the title and set an example for all fighters, black and white."

MOORE'S NEXT GO IN MEMPHIS RING

Pat Moore, Memphis and Chicago bantamweight, returned yesterday from Detroit, where he gave Joe Schwartz a boxing lesson last Monday night. It was Pat's second fight in five days. The local boxer will rest for a few days before resuming training for his eight round contest with Carl Tremaine of Cleveland at Memphis on Jan. 9.

Bud Taylor, Terre Haute bantamweight, and Joe Mannel of Rockford, who will appear in Jimmy Kever's boxing show at La Salle, Ill., Dec. 28, have come to Chicago to complete training at the Arcade.

GASOLINE ALLEY—NEWS FROM HOME

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

COLLEGE DEPARTMENT.

DEAR WAKE: I note many comments by Helpers about conference teams, especially Iowa, not scheduling football games with Notre Dame. Notre Dame is admittedly one of the strongest teams in the country, year after year. But what good does it do any conference team to play a non-conference team in the same section of the country? It does not count in the conference standing, which to all conference teams is the most important. Notre Dame is very successful in scheduling games with other strong teams, both east and west, and there is no special reason why any conference team should schedule Notre Dame any more than any other strong non-conference team.

P. H. W.

I don't want to be sarcastical, but have you heard of any college football team anywhere that isn't going to play California next season? J. J. C.

For several years, just about this season, I put in many sleepless nights wondering if Yale and Princeton are going to get enough nerve to tell Harvard to take a jump in the lake and arrange a different schedule for the Big 3 games. With schedules announced, I see that Harvard again has the schedule makers of Yale and Princeton baffled in some way.

Please, dear Wake, tell me why Princeton and Yale persist in playing their two Big 3 games on successive Saturdays while Harvard ALWAYS has another week between her games with Yale and Princeton? I. W. Y.

My mission at this Yuletide season.

A Merry Christmas, a candle's reason.

Mario K. A.

"Skipping the rope" is the favorite recreation of convicts, according to Wayside Tales.

Necktie Shower.

Are you thinking of presenting your postman the usual tie for Christmas?

Don't! Shift the cut. That formerly was our custom until one Merry Yuletide Day as we handed him the package we noted his resigned look and inquired, "Do any others on your route give you ties?" "This is the seventh," he murmured.

"Stop" Signal for Ballrooms.

Friend Harvey: Last night, at a crowded dance, I injured the silk hosiery of other gliders whenever I slowed down or glided. Isn't there any one among The Wake's many inventors who can devise for such occasions a STOP signal similar to those used on autos? A. B.

That course in matrimony advocated by a University of Kansas professor is all right, except that so many persons want to take several courses with degrees (not degrees) between each course.

Do You Remember Way Back When?

See Palmer, whose husband is suing Jack Dempsey for alienation of her affections, attended Beale school, 61st and Sangamon (1909), and a few years later was an entertainer at the Englewood Inn, 63d and Halsted.—T. R.

Popular Interest Lacking.

Stepping west a couple blocks, Al Bloom, whose cigar store caters to fight bugs, insisted that the boxing public would not "fall" for the contest.

Let Wills beat Langford decisively, and then he might be in line for a match," Mr. Behr said. "I have never seen the colored fighter in action, but I doubt if he would go four rounds with Dempsey, if the champion performs as he did against Miske and Carpenter."

Notes of the Cue Rooms.

In the Chicago Billiard league last night Helberg (42) defeated Bert Treddick (50), 42 to 40, in 66 innings at McGarry's. Toland Lookabaugh will play Moreau at Reading's.

Rewlings won two games in the three cushion billiard tourney from scratch at Bensinger's Monroe street room last night, defeating Sampson, 40 to 35, and Peterson, 40 to 35.

THE QUESTION BOX.

CHICAGO.—[To the Editor.]—I was much interested in your article on the Game Refuge-Public Shooting Ground bill. How can I help to put this good work over?

HARRY S.

ANSWER—I am having sent to you details of this bill and also the hope on how you can help get it passed. Glad you are interested, as the assistance of every sportsman is needed.

Havana, Ill.—[To the Editor.]—Is it against the law to shoot an albino duck?

HUNTER.

ANSWER—It's O. K. if you shoot such a duck during the regular duck season.

Chicago.—[To the Editor.]—I am going to make a fly rod. Would you use greenheart, bethabarra, or bamboo for it? I expect to use this rod for bass mostly.

ANSWER—Bamboo is without doubt the best fly rod material, and it has all the virtues of other materials, plus greater pliancy and balance. However, greenheart is good. Our English friends use it a great deal. Takes a nice finish, and although a bit heavy and not quite as snappy as bamboo, makes a good rod. Bethabarra is expensive and a little heavier than greenheart. Makes a beautiful rod. However, as we said above, bamboo takes the ribbon as the best material of all.

De Paul Plays Monmouth on Armory Floor Tonight

De Paul university's basketball team will clash with Monmouth college tomorrow night at Broadway armory.

It will be the headline of a triple header. De Paul academy lights will play Hibbard High as a curtain raiser, and the academy heavies will tackle Senn. De Paul plays its basketball schedule this season at Broadway armory.

Dear Mr. Good Fellow:
It's too bad to make your mail any heavier this morning, but I've got something in my system to tell you and it's just simply GOT to get out. (You know how that is?) But I'll be awfully brief.

The world is full of fakes, isn't it? People trying to "tip" you? And around Christmas time especially, there are swarms of busy bees wearing tags and sad faces waiting to sting you. You've been fooled loads of times without doubt, and maybe this Yuletide you've set your foot down and said: "I'll be LUTELY never AGAIN will your heart run away with your head! No body can blame you, BUT—"

"Way down in that warm heart of yours you're frowning:
"It doesn't seem like Christmas! The world's all wrong! Why the blank does it have to be? Why can't folks be on the square!"
(Brief, she said.) All right. Listen: Please, not for my sake, but for your own sake and the sake of the thousands of gallant sufferers who wear their poverty with a smile and grin and the cold and hopeless dawns with hope—HOPE, do you hear?—and a philosophy that carries them through world wars with hunger, sickness, death and humiliation that you never DREAMED could be waged in your own home

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—In a season when the white evening gown is so much to the fore the wedding gown suffers little danger from its old time collapse after the ceremony. Furthermore, most of the wedding frocks of today reflect so faithfully the everyday mode that they are warranted to give several seasons of general service.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I want to be the medium through which the friend in need and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make you a friend in need. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper, a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send the address of the applicant and send direct.

CLOSEUPS.

Lupino Lane, English comedian, who was with Alice Delysia in "Afgar," passed through Chicago recently on his way to the coast. He is to make a series of comedies for Fox.
Winifred Westover (Mrs. William S. Hart) says it's going to be the little old domestic life for her now. Except, she adds, that she may play in an occasional picture with her husband.
Allen Holubar and his wife, Dorothy Phillips, have finished their long vacation and are now at work on a picture called "The Soul Seeker." Miss Phillips is the star.

Would Be Santa.

"Will you please put me in touch with some little two or three year old, either boy or girl, whom I can take into my home for Christmas? Some little visit who doesn't stand much of a chance from Santa Claus otherwise."
"Mrs. L. C. G."

Wants Christmas Cheer.

"I live with my daughter. Her husband has left her and we were out in the country this summer and our house burned and we lost everything we had. The children are in need of clothes and shoes. Is there some one who would be willing to help make the children happy with little toys or candy Christmas morning?"
"Mrs. R. C."

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Potato Basket.
The potato basket is a pretty thing in which to serve any sort of fried potato, or even mashed potato, or some other dry vegetable like the best type of mashed squash. It could be made of sweet potatoes instead of white. It is necessary to have two deep wire ladies of different sizes. These are heated and deeper than two fastened together, which manufacturers have made for this work.

If the potatoes have been washed after peeling them, they should be thoroughly dried. Cut them into thin slices the long way, and then cut these slices into matchlike pieces. Line the larger wire lady with a layer of paper. Have the fat just right, or at about 380 degrees, dip the whole into the fat just at the minute you turn the gas out under it, for safety's sake. After the potato has browned a little and the pieces cooked together, take out the inner lady and pour the potato basket into the fat, bottom side up, and cook a little longer.

DAILY HOROSCOPE

Doris Blake Says:

If your birthday is today, you are AFFECTIONATE.
Your nature gives and requires much affection. You live on it. Deprived of it, you are like a plant deprived of water. You do not fall in love at first sight, but once you settle on an affection you are there to stay.

Make a Hasty Exit.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am going with a girl who is one year younger than myself and whom I love.
"She has stated many times that she cares for me, but every time I see her she quarrels with me and does not talk to me for some time. Then after she gets over her quarrelsome rage I make up. Then she is as true to me as ever.
"Do you think I do right by making up with her, and do you think she cares for me when she acts in this manner?"
"A rather unmanageable disposition. Do you love her in spite of it? What do you quarrel about? If you cannot be happy without her then you will have to refuse to quarrel."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

One of the Old Timers.
My brother, who was popular with the fair sex, had quite a collection of photographs.
"O," I said to a girl I was showing them to, "you would not be interested in those. They are only some old timers."
I was speechless when the second one I turned up was her own.

A Damsel in Distress.

One winter day I was passing a church just as the congregation was gathering. Every one was walking in the street to avoid the extremely icy walks. Just as a good looking girl was turning toward the church she slipped and fell down. I hurried to assist her, but I forgot the ice!
The first thing I knew I was sitting close beside her—almost cheek to cheek. I hastily arose and helped her to the walk but, believe me, I was much too embarrassed to see the funny side, as did the lookers on. F. B.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address: Bright Sayings to Anny Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

"O, dear, here it's almost Christmas and I haven't presents for half the people on my list," I complained wearily to my husband the other day.
"Yes, but mudder, dear," piped up Junior, reproachfully, "js' think of all Santa Taus has to do!" E. C. B.
The lass who was flower girl at my wedding last June comes to see me quite often. The other day while rummaging around, she came across some snapshots taken at my wedding, and was naming the different persons in the pictures.
Finally she picked up one of the happy couple, and I asked her who the man was.
"Not knowing my husband well," she pondered a moment, and then exclaimed, "O, I know him! He was at your party!" W. R. D.
June had been having trouble with her arithmetic lesson, and had turned to her big brother for assistance. He did the sums for her, handed her the paper, and resumed his reading.
June was soon back at his side, however, and he inquired, "What's the matter, aren't they all right?"
"O, yes, ever so nice, but, mudder, you please put in a few mistakes as teacher will think I did it!" M. E.

RAILWAY STOCKS DECLINE; BOND MARKET ERRATIC

YESTERDAY'S AVERAGES

	High	Low	Close	Net
25 railroads	54.81	54.23	54.37	-10
25 industrials	52.03	51.85	52.44	+25
30 stocks	53.77	53.09	53.40	+103

The New York Times.

New York, Dec. 20.—[Special].—Many of the markets declined moderately today. In several of them, notably on the stock exchange, the reaction occurred on a smaller volume of business.

Considering that this is the week when the markets used to look for what they called the "Christmas boom," Wall street tradition is not being fulfilled. But the tradition really antedates the war. Last year this week was marked by a 2 to 5 point break, even in the investment bond market, and the low prices for stocks in the famous collapse at the end of 1916 were reached on Dec. 21. It was again a striking fact about today's financial markets, however, that although prices of bonds moved uncertainly, total transactions continued large.

Declines Affect All Stocks.
The day's declines affected both industrial and railway stocks. With the temporary waning of enthusiasm over the recent all-embracing "merger talk," Liberty bonds declined, with a further loss of 30 cents in the 4½s, following yesterday's severe drop. This makes a loss of $1.60, compared with Saturday's closing price.

Today's moderate reaction in foreign exchange was a natural sequel to the preceding day's excited rise. The German mark almost alone advanced, reaching the highest price since October, with the one brief exception of the day of commotion in all the foreign exchanges, Monday of last week.

As shown by today's reitchebank statement, the German paper currency rose 1,774,000 marks further in the second week of December. It has expanded 10 per cent since the middle of November and 19 per cent since the middle of October.

Cotton Glaring Report.
Since the agricultural department repudiated its low October estimate on the cotton crop, interest in the fortnightly "ginning reports" has naturally waned. Today's statement had some points of interest, however. It showed 7,739,000 bales ginned up to Dec. 13, a figure large enough to suggest at first another underestimate in the department's $340,000 bale forecast of last week.

But there is now left only about one month more for the traditional ginning period, and in the first half of December only 155,588 bales were ginned, as compared with 370,225 in the preceding half month and 524,439 in the two weeks before that. If the rate of ginning shown thus far in December were to be duplicated into January the $340,000 bale estimate would be reasonably verified.

RAILROAD NOTES

A petition to vacate the order in the "sharepoint rate case" was forwarded to the Interstate commerce commission by the Texas railroad commission. This order was made effective by the interstate commission on July 7, 1919, and at that time was opposed by Texas shippers.

The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad announced that it would not ask to have its lines extended from the forth coming 10 per cent rate reduction on agricultural products.

Bulletins have been posted in the Big Four railway shops announcing that conferences with employees looking to a reduction in pay will begin at Indianapolis Jan. 16. The proposed reductions range from 25 to 50 cents per day.

The interstate commerce commission has denied the application of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia railway to issue $7,400,000 of new capital stock and to assume the obligations of the West Side-Belt railroad, says a Washington dispatch.

South Minneapolis shops of the St. Paul road were ordered shut down, throwing about 1,000 locomotive workers and car men out of work. A temporary shutdown in repair shops by the New Haven road on Dec. 24 will cause 2,500 men to be idle.

Bull Market Ahead?

Has the real bull rise started?
Should long swing speculators buy now—or wait for a reaction?
